New Election Management System for Queensland Elections

The Electoral Commission of Queensland is conducting a procurement process to replace the software it currently uses to manage Queensland State and Local Government elections.

Earlier this year the Commission published an Expression of Interest to identify suppliers capable of delivering a commercial-off-the-shelf election management system to plan, manage and report on electoral events.

Shortlisted suppliers from the Expression of Interest have been invited to participate in a closed Request for Tender that was released yesterday.

“We are excited about the benefits a modern election management system will bring to our business,” said Electoral Commissioner, Walter van der Merwe.

“This investment will support the Commission’s commitment to integrity and accountability in delivering efficient impartial and transparent electoral events.”
