NORTHERN TABLELANDS

Coffs Harbour
Dorrigo
Glen Innes
Guy Fawkes River
H吉rsby
Koondooma
Mount Ormiston
Quirindi
Warialda
Woolongbar

The Northern Tablelands is a region in northern New South Wales, Australia. It is part of the Northern Tablelands district and is located in the far north of the state. The region is known for its scenic beauty, agricultural productivity, and rich cultural heritage. It is home to a diverse range of landscapes, including fertile valleys, rolling hills, and rugged mountains.

The history of the Northern Tablelands dates back thousands of years, with evidence of Indigenous settlement and cultural significance. Today, the region is a popular destination for tourism, offering visitors opportunities to explore nature reserves, national parks, and historic sites. The economy is based on agriculture, particularly livestock and grain farming, as well as forestry and tourism.

The Northern Tablelands is also known for its strong sense of community and has a unique identity that reflects its rich cultural history and natural beauty.