Temporary Election Staff Position Descriptions

Election Positions

There are a wide range of paid casual roles available throughout an election from supervisory to administrative roles. Each position has its own set of tasks, competencies and attributes as outlined below.

All temporary election staff are required to complete relevant training before commencing employment. This may be a combination of on the job, online, face-to-face training, as well as handbooks and user guides.

Work Period

Positions before Election Day

These positions support preparation for the election and conducting Early Voting. Early Voting generally happens in the two weeks before Election Day. Your work may include working at an Early Voting centre for a particular electorate, visiting declared institutions which provide a range of voter services to hospitals, aged care and other facilities or visiting electors in their home. Staff will work on a casual roster, predominantly Monday to Friday, and may be required to work irregular long hours, some of which may be outside of ordinary business hours.

Positions on Election Day

These positions conduct polling at polling booths on Election Day. You will normally be required to work extended hours, usually from 7.00 or 7.15 am to 10.00 pm; staff will issue votes at the polling booth from 8.00 am to 6.00 pm and then conduct a count of ballot papers once polling ends. Staff must remain at the polling booth until all duties are completed.

Positions after Election Day

These positions support the counting of all votes cast at the election and administrative work to finalise the election. This may involve extended hours and weekend work.
