

Position description

Temporary election staff

WORK PERIOD

Positions before election day (early voting)

These positions support preparation for the election and conducting Early Voting. Early Voting generally happens in the two weeks before Election Day. Your work may include working at an Early Voting centre for a particular electorate, visiting declared institutions which provide a range of voter services to hospitals, aged care and other facilities or visiting electors in their home. Staff will work on a casual roster, predominantly Monday to Friday, and may be required to work irregular long hours, some of which may be outside of ordinary business hours.

Positions on Election Day

These positions conduct polling at polling booths on Election Day. You will normally be required to work extended hours, usually from 7.00 or 7.15 am to 10.00 pm; staff will issue votes at the polling booth from 8.00 am to 6.00 pm and then conduct a count of ballot papers once polling ends. Staff must remain at the polling booth until all duties are completed.

Positions after Election Day

These positions support the counting of all votes cast at the election, and administrative work to finalise the election. This may involve extended hours and weekend work.

Equal employment opportunity

The Electoral Commission Queensland is an inclusive organisation and values a diverse workforce. People of all ages, abilities, gender and ethnicity are encouraged to apply for positions. As a White Ribbon accredited workplace, we are active in removing all forms of harassment and discrimination from our workplaces and supporting our employees who experience domestic and family violence. We respect, protect and promote human rights in our decision making and actions.

Reasonable adjustment

The Electoral Commission Queensland is committed to, where it is reasonably practicable to do so, make modification and adjustments to the workplace or the role to meet the individual needs of people with special requirements. Please note that adjustment may be limited to the hired venue and building access.

To assist the ECQ with your reasonable adjustment, please outline adjustment(s) that may be required in your expression of interest application and/or throughout the offer of employment.

While reasonable adjustment consideration is given to all positions, ECQ have identified that the role of Issuing Officer (IO) and Count Assistant (CA) operationally have the most flexibility to configure to reasonable adjustment requirements. Refer to reasonable adjustment in page 1.
