Foreword

The 2016 Local Government quadrennial elections were held on Saturday 19 March 2016 for the purpose of electing Mayors and Councillors for the 77 local governments across Queensland.

These elections were conducted under the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 by the Electoral Commission of Queensland (ECQ).

Planning for the 2016 Local Government elections (LG16) was challenging as it shared polling day with a State referendum, and involved two voting systems depending on the electoral arrangements of councils. In divided councils Mayors and Councillors were elected using Optional Preferential Voting (OPV), while in undivided councils Mayors were elected using OPV and councillors using First-Past-the-Post (FPTP). The Referendum was based on a simple majority FPTP.

Key points for LG16:

- ECQ conducted 349 separate elections for 77 local government areas across Queensland;
- taking into account both Mayoral and Councillor contests, the total number of positions to be elected was 579 (77 Mayors and 502 Councillors);

- 1,767 candidates (271 Mayoral and 1,496 Councillor candidates) vied for local government elected positions;
- out of 77 councils, 20 opted to have their elections conducted entirely by post and two as hybrid i.e. a mixture of postal and attendance (a first for Queensland);
- all Mayoral elections were contested using OPV for the first time;
- for Councillor elections 23 used OPV (divided councils) while 54 used FPTP (undivided councils);

For the first time in Queensland history, no printed certified lists were used at these elections. All electors were marked off the Queensland electoral roll using Electronic Certified Lists (ECLs). The barcode on the Voter Information Letter (VIL) I posted to all Queenslanders on the electoral roll synchronised with ECLs, allowing polling officials to quickly and effortlessly locate electors on the electoral roll.

Continuing its commitment to making elections more accessible, telephone voting was expanded to electors who cannot vote at a polling booth or without assistance because of an impairment or insufficient level of literacy; are special postal voters; or are more than 20 kilometres from a polling booth.

Recognising that many electors commute into Brisbane from surrounding council areas, Brisbane City Hall was selected to pilot the "multi-council centre" concept. This provided voting facilities during pre-poll and on polling day, to electors enrolled in seven local government areas in South East Queensland, namely:

- Brisbane City Council;
- Gold Coast City Council;
- Ipswich City Council;
- Logan City Council;
- Moreton Bay Regional Council;
- Redland City Council; and
- Sunshine Coast Regional Council.

Although the rate of informal voting was slightly higher when compared to the 2012 Local Government quadrennial elections, I am particularly proud of the 2.71% increase in voter turnout for this event.

All elections were declared by 5 April 2016, which would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of Commission staff, Returning Officers and Polling Officials. I would like to express my sincere gratitude and thanks to everyone who assisted in delivering this major electoral event.

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'W. van der Merwe', with a long, sweeping horizontal stroke at the end.

Walter van der Merwe
Electoral Commissioner

Ballot Paper Survey

Ballot Paper Survey

The aim of this ballot paper survey is to provide updated information about ballot papers cast at the 2016 Local Government quadrennial elections (LG16).

A total of nine local government councils and divisions were selected for this survey, with an emphasis on ensuring that both rural and metropolitan councils were represented and the two types of voting systems are reflected in the survey.

In addition to the two types of voting systems, both attendance and full postal voting appear in LG16. The survey also reflects these types of systems. The survey has also included an indigenous council for the purpose of analysis.

The Commission has examined all ballot papers for the selected councils and provided comparative data.

Optional Preferential Voting

The Optional Preferential Voting (OPV) system allows the voter to place a '1 only' as the first preference and then the voter may choose to preference other candidates or leave the ballot paper marked with a single '1'. Consequently the voter may mark the ballot paper in three ways: a single primary preference; a partial preference; or, a full preference (marking every square).

A total of four councils were surveyed using the OPV system. As previously discussed these divisions are classified as divided and consist of a number of internal boundaries or divisions. Each division has its own election for a councillor. It should be noted that in some divisions there is no contest with the single candidate nominated elected unopposed. Table 2 identifies the selected divisions using OPV used in the survey.

Ballot papers from the four councils identified as 'divided' were sorted into three categories. The first category was those ballot papers marked with a single preference, these are referred to as '1 only'. The second category were those ballot papers marked with more than 1 preference but not all the squares marked; these are referred to as partial preferences.

Finally, those ballot papers marked with all preferences are referred to as Full Preference. It should be noted that seven of eighteen internal divisions contained two candidates. In this case the ballot paper is either a '1 only' or Full Preference. Table 3 identifies the results of collating ballot papers into the three categories.

Table 3 demonstrates that 74.18% of ballot papers were marked with '1 only'. Tennysen and Northern Peninsula had the lowest percentage of '1 only' ballot papers and also the highest percentage of ballot papers marked using full preferences.

It is important to note that seven of the divisions had two candidates. Table 4 identifies the ballot papers by category by the number of candidates.

The table reflects a higher full preference marking of ballot papers that have four candidates and consequently this category has the lowest rate of '1 only'.

Optional Preferential Voting - Informal Ballots

The total number of ballot papers surveyed using the four councils defined as divided and using the OPV system was 44,092. A total of 1,060 of these ballot papers have been deemed informal, this is 2.40% of the total ballot papers surveyed.

Informal votes were classified into the seven categories. This is not an exhaustive list and there are obvious categories that could be added or expanded on. The following is a list of categories that all 1,060 ballot papers were categorised into.

1. Writing
2. Blanks
3. Marks and scribbles
4. Ticks and crosses
5. Defective numbering
6. Writer identifying the elector
7. Other

Table 4 - OPV by number of candidates

Candidates	1 Only	%	Partial	%	Full	%	Total
2	7,902	91.08	0	0	774	8.92	8,676
3	3,102	78.12	22	.55	847	21.33	3,971

Total	31,918	74.17	883	2.05	10,231	23.76	43,032

These categories are self-explanatory, apart from 'other', which contains ballot papers that contain a combination of the other six categories e.g. defective numbering and writing. Table 5 are the results of collating the informal ballot papers into the above categories.

Blank ballot papers account for the highest proportion of informal papers making up 52.08% of the informal votes. The highest percentage of ballot papers amongst the councils surveyed was Tennyson (50%).

The second highest recorded type of informal votes resulting from the survey of OPV ballots was those defined as 'writing'. This category represented (16.60%) of the total informal ballots. This category contained no numbering on the ballot papers but comments.

The majority of comments referred to the choice of candidates on the ballot and many also referred to compulsory voting. There were a number of ballot papers where an elector had added a name to the ballot and placed a number 1 next to it.

The third highest category was those ballot papers that contained marks and scribbles (13.40%). These ballot papers often contained a large 'X'. In some cases cartoon characters were drawn on the ballot papers.

The fourth highest category of informal voting was those ballot papers categorised as 'defective numbering'. These ballot papers contained multiple number ticks or zeros. This category represented 9.60% of all informal ballots.

The category deemed 'ticks and crosses' represented 6.51% of all informal votes. In terms of raw numbers this was 69 from a total of 1,060 informal ballots. This category used more than one tick or cross to reflect their choice of candidate.

The category 'other' (2.36%) represents those ballots that have a combination of the above categories.

First Past the Post Voting (FPTP)

The system referred to as First Past the Post (FPTP) in Queensland is a version of the Block Vote. This system is a form of plurality voting where the council can be referred to as a multi-member seat. In this case the council is also named as an undivided council.

Consequently all the candidates for the council appear on one ballot paper. The elector must mark as many candidates as there are vacancies on the ballot paper. The elector can use numbers or ticks, crosses or any other form of marks to indicate their choice. However any fewer or more marks than the number to be elected will deem the paper informal. The exception is numbering; if the elector marks the ballot paper sequentially using numbers greater than the number of vacancies, the numbering exhausts after the number of vacancies has been marked.

In examining the number of ballot papers surveyed in FPTP it is important to understand the relationship between votes and ballot papers. In the case of OPV each ballot paper is equal to one vote. Therefore if a candidate receives 1,200 votes there will be 1,200 ballot papers for the candidate.

In FPTP each ballot paper has a value equal to the number of vacancies since all candidates are represented on one ballot paper. In the above example (1,200 votes), if there were four vacancies then there would be 300 ballot papers (1,200/4).

Formal ballot papers were classified into four categories:

1. Numbering (numbering of exact vacancies)
2. Ticks and crosses
3. Numbering more than number of vacancies
4. Other

Table 6 identifies the councils used in the survey that operated using the FPTP system. The table refers to both votes and ballot papers. The ballot papers are the total informal votes added to the formal votes/ vacancies.

Table 7 identifies the councils used in this survey using FPTP system. It should be noted that Longreach council is a full postal council.

The majority of electors chose to mark their ballot papers using numbering equal to the number of candidates to be elected. That is if there were four councillors to be elected the voter marked the ballot paper 1,2,3,4. This category accounted for 94.16% of all ballot papers. Longreach recorded the highest percentage (97.11%). The Council of Doomadgee recorded less than 90% in this category, with four councillors to be elected, while the Council of Cloncurry also having to elect four councillors recorded more than 90% (91.7%) Three other councils each with six councillors to be elected recorded higher than 92%.

Voters numbering more than the number of vacancies accounted for 3.39% of all the formal votes. In this category voters numbered the ballot papers with more numbering than was necessary. Doomadgee received 9.65% of this type of vote.

The third highest category was ballot papers containing ticks and crosses (1.90%). In this category voters chose to mark the ballot paper using either a tick or a cross or both. Charters Towers recorded the highest percentage (2.9%) in this category while Longreach which is a full postal ballot recorded the lowest percentage (0.54%).

The category named other consists of ballot papers that had a combination of ticks, crosses, numbering or some other mark (0.55%).

FPTP Informal Ballots

The table of informal votes for FPTP (Table 8) is self-explanatory. There are a number of ways a ballot paper can be rendered informal under the FPTP system. Formal ballot papers were sorted into the following categories:

1. Blank
2. Writing
3. Defective numbering
4. Fewer marks than vacancies
5. More marks than vacancies
6. Other.

The highest category was Blank Ballot Papers (35.01%).

The second highest category was where an elector placed fewer marks or numbers than there were vacancies. Cloncurry Council recorded the highest in this area (75.86%).

The third highest category was defective numbering ballot papers (23.04%). In the majority of cases this was a result of the elector selecting more candidates than vacancies with a repeating number 1. In other cases the numbering did not begin with 1. The Mt Isa City Council recorded the highest percentage in this category (24.07%).

The ballot papers under the heading 'Other' contained a combination of numbers, ticks and crosses exceeding the number of vacancies. This accounted for 3.36% of the total informal votes.

Some electors marked ballot papers with more first preference marks than necessary mainly using ticks, crosses or a combination of the two. In this case the ballot paper was deemed informal and sorted under the heading 'More marks than vacancies'. This accounted for 2.69% of the total informal votes.

Summary of Findings

A total of nine councils and divisions were analysed in this survey totalling 62,413 ballot papers. The councils represented OPV and FPTP. The councils also represented attendance and full postal voting, rural, Indigenous and metropolitan councils.

The total number of candidates represented in this survey is 153.

The total number of ballot papers surveyed using the OPV system was 44,092. The formal ballot papers for OPV totalled 43,032.

The number of '1 Only' ballot papers declined as the number of candidates increased in OPV.

The total informal vote for OPV was 2.05%. The majority of informal ballots were those ballot papers classified as blank.

A total of 18,321 ballot papers were analysed using FPTP system. The majority of formal ballot papers using FPTP were marked using numbers equal to the number of vacancies (94.16%).

The informal vote of 8.17% reflects the greater complexity of FPTP voting.

The highest informal category under FPTP was blank ballot papers (29.05%).

OPV has the highest rate of blank ballots while the FPTP has the highest rate of defective numbering.
