

ELECTION AND DISCLOSURE GUIDE FOR GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

FOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS

VERSION 5: APRIL 2026

Electoral Commission
QUEENSLAND

Introduction

The Electoral Commission of Queensland (ECQ) is the independent statutory authority responsible for the impartial conduct of State, local, and industrial elections. It also works to ensure that election participants comply with funding and disclosure requirements, set out in the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (the Act), and the Local Government Electoral Regulation 2023 (the Regulation).

These legal requirements promote transparency and fairness, and include (amongst others):

- disclosing gifts and loans made and received
- disclosing electoral expenditure incurred
- use of dedicated local campaign bank accounts
- enforcement of expenditure caps
- enforcement of prohibited donor laws.

This handbook is a compilation of fact sheets to help groups of candidates comply with their election and disclosure obligations for local government elections and by-elections.

The ECQ can undertake a range of actions to ensure and enforce compliance, including conducting compliance reviews and audits, issuing penalty infringement notices (fines), recovering amounts as debts due to the State and commencing prosecutions.

Disclaimer

The ECQ's publications are not legal advice, nor are they intended as a substitute for the Act or Regulation. The ECQ recommends that stakeholders refer to the Act and Regulation, and if necessary, seek independent legal advice in relation to their election and disclosure obligations.

The Act and Regulation are available on the Queensland legislation website: www.legislation.qld.gov.au.

Assistance and enquiries

The ECQ's Funding and Disclosure team is available to provide general guidance and information in relation to election and disclosure compliance matters. The ECQ will not provide specific legal, financial or other professional advice. All electoral participants should seek their own legal advice if they are concerned about how the law treats their particular circumstances.

Candidate checklist

Introduction

Candidacy in local government elections can be both stressful and rewarding – sometimes at the same time. We are providing this checklist in hopes that having an easily skimmed list of tasks and obligations will help you plan your time and fulfill your obligations as a candidate.

This checklist is divided into 3 time periods:

- before the election period – from the time you announce your candidacy until the day before the notice of election is issued
- the election period – the day the notice of election is issued through 6pm on election day
- after the election.

Each time period has a table with tasks and obligations. Not all items will apply to every candidacy. After each table, we've included a list of resources that may assist you during this period.

Most resources including fact sheets, handbooks, forms and user guides can be found at ecq.qld.gov.au/factsheets.

We tried to cover as much ground as possible in a short checklist, but this document may not contain all obligations for all candidates. Please be sure to review our comprehensive array of educational materials or contact us at fad@ecq.qld.gov.au for additional information or questions.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Funding and disclosure overview

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to groups of candidates and their agents participating in local elections and by-elections.

What is a group of candidates?

Two or more candidates may form a group to campaign collectively in a local government election, execute common policies and achieve shared goals if elected to council. Candidates who form a group are also able to pool their electoral expenditure caps.

Candidates must register as a group with the ECQ before engaging in group campaign activities. Applications for registration can be made up to the day before election day.

For more information about group campaign activities or group registration, please refer to Fact sheet 22 – Group registration process.

Should groups of candidates appoint an agent?

An agent is an individual responsible for ensuring an election participant's compliance obligations under the LGEA are met.

A group of candidates must appoint an agent when registering as a group.

See Fact sheet 38 – Funding and disclosure overview for agents for further information about who can be an agent and their responsibilities.

Do groups need a dedicated campaign bank account?

A group of candidates must establish a dedicated campaign bank account for the election and provide the account details when applying to register the group.

The group's dedicated campaign bank account details will also need to be provided by each candidate as part of the nomination process (which is separate to the group registration process). Nominations cannot be accepted without these details.

See Fact sheet 23 – Dedicated campaign bank accounts for groups.

What disclosure obligations do groups have?

DISCLOSURE OF GIFTS AND LOANS RECEIVED

Agents for a group of candidates must disclose all gifts and loans received of $500 or more. Returns for gifts and loans must be lodged with the ECQ within 7 business days, or within 24 hours if the expenditure is incurred within 7 business days before election day.

For more information, see Fact sheet 25 – Real-time disclosure of gifts and loans by agents of groups of candidates.

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Electoral
Commission
QUEENSLAND

DISCLOSURE OF ELECTORAL EXPENDITURE INCURRED

Agents of a group of candidates must disclose all electoral expenditure incurred once the group's total expenditure reaches $500.

Expenditure disclosures are lodged as returns in the ECQ's Electronic Disclosure System (EDS) at disclosures.edq.qld.gov.au.

Returns must be given within 7 business days of incurring electoral expenditure.

If electoral expenditure is incurred during the 7 business days before the election, a return must be lodged within 24 hours.

For more information, please refer to Fact sheet 18 – Real-time disclosure of electoral expenditure for candidates, groups and registered political parties.

ELECTION SUMMARY RETURN

Agents of a group of candidates must give an election summary return within 15 weeks after election day. The return must state the total amount of all electoral expenditure incurred for the election. All gifts and loans received by the group of candidates must also be disclosed in the election summary return as well as the bank statement for the group's dedicated campaign bank account.

For more information, see Fact sheet 14 – Election summary returns.

Are any gifts prohibited?

It is unlawful for a group of candidates to receive anonymous gifts or loans totalling $500 or more. This includes gifts or loans where the name, address or other required details of the donor are not known to the group.

It is also unlawful for a group of candidates to accept a gift or loan from a property developer or an industry organisation representing property developers. See Fact sheet 42 – Definition of prohibited donors, property developers and close associates and Fact sheet 43 – Ban on political donations from prohibited donors for more information.

Are there expenditure caps for local government elections?

There are limitations (caps) on the amount of electoral expenditure that can be incurred by a group of candidates during the capped expenditure period for a local election.

For more information, see Fact sheet 24 – Expenditure caps for groups of candidates.

What happens if a mistake is made?

If a candidate or group agent realises they have incorrectly handled a funding and disclosure obligation, the participant should contact the ECQ at fad@ecq.qld.gov.au. The Funding and Disclosure team can assist the election participant in amending or fulfilling their obligations. Returns must still be lodged, even if they are late.

For further information

This fact sheet mainly refers to part 4, division 2 and part 6 of the LGEA. The LGEA is available in full at legislation.qld.gov.au. Participants in the electoral process should ensure they understand their obligations under the LGEA.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Group registration process

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to groups of candidates and their agents participating in local elections and by-elections.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

Failure to register as a group of candidates before engaging in group campaign activities is an offence that carries substantial penalties. It is an integrity offence under the Local Government Act 2009.

What is a group of candidates?

Two or more candidates may form a group to campaign collectively in a local government election, execute common policies and achieve shared goals if elected to council. Candidates who form a group are also able to pool their electoral expenditure caps.

Candidates must register as a group with the ECQ before engaging in group campaign activities. Applications for registration can be made up to the day before election day.

Groups of candidates must re-register for every election they wish to campaign collectively in.

What are group campaign activities?

Group campaign activities are carried out in an intentionally coordinated way by two or more candidates as follows:

- using a common platform to promote the election of the candidates (e.g. promoting the same political policies)
- using the same advertisements, campaign slogans, brands, images or how-to-vote cards
- using other material that promotes the election of the candidates
- participating in the same fundraising activities or events
- sharing the same resources for election campaigns (other than volunteers), and/or
- sharing gifts or loans.

Some examples of group campaign activities are:

- a candidate erecting electoral signs with the names or images of one or more other candidates
- a candidate giving a donation to another candidate or group of candidates during a campaign
- a candidate gifting an amount of electoral expenditure to another candidate
- a candidate publishing a notice or letter on a website encouraging electors to vote for another candidate or group of candidates

- a candidate handing out another candidate's election material (including how-to-vote cards).

Restrictions on group campaign activities apply to unopposed candidates as well as councillors who have decided not to run in the current election.

This means retiring councillors must not coordinate with new candidates in any of the above activities. Retiring councillors are welcome to endorse candidates but must not intentionally coordinate with those new candidates by carrying out any of the above activities.

For a by-election, restrictions on group campaign activities also apply to sitting councillors. If sitting councillors wish to campaign with a candidate or candidates running in the by-election, they must register as a group with that candidate/candidates.

It is an offence for candidates to engage in group campaign activities without being registered as a group.

This offence is an integrity offence under the Local Government Act 2009. A successful prosecution may result in disqualification from being a councillor, as well as a maximum penalty of 100 penalty units ($16,690 as at 1 July 2025).

Unplanned activities that may result in candidates having the same outcomes would not be considered group campaign activities. For example, if two candidates independently choose to campaign on the same issue, but do not share policy documents, resources, advertising, or financially assist one another, the ECQ would be unlikely to consider those candidates to be engaging in group campaign activities.

What are the requirements for group membership?

Candidates can only be a member of one group, and groups can only contest an election in one local government area. Each group may only have one mayoral candidate.

Candidates who are endorsed (or are intending to be endorsed) by a registered political party are not permitted to be a member of a group but are free to engage in group campaign activities.

When can a group of candidates register?

Candidates may apply to register a group at any time up to the day before election day. Registration is complete when the ECQ publishes notice of approval on its website.

Applications for registration that are received before the close of nominations for an election will result in the group's name appearing next to the candidates' names on the ballot paper. Applications received after the close of nominations will result in the group's name not appearing on the ballot paper.

All members of the group must still be nominated as candidates for the election, even if the group is already registered for the election.

How can a group of candidates register?

Candidates may apply to register a group online via the ECQ's Self Service Portal (SSP). All proposed group members will need to sign the application form. The form will also ask for the name of the group.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

The group's application form must include the details of the group's dedicated campaign bank account. An agent for the group also needs to be appointed as part of the registration process.

Changing or winding up a group

Changes to a group's membership may be made at any time up to the day before election day. However, changes made after the close of nominations will not be reflected on the ballot paper.

If adding a new candidate to the group, the existing group must not engage in group campaign activities with the new candidate until the proposed change has been approved and registered by the ECQ. Any change to a group's membership must not result in only one candidate remaining in the group.

A group of candidates may wind up (deregister) their group at any time before election day. Once a group is deregistered, the candidates in the group must not engage in group campaign activities.

If either a change to a group's membership is made or a group is deregistered during the capped expenditure period, there will be implications for electoral expenditure caps for all candidates impacted by the change. See Fact sheet 24 – Expenditure caps for groups of candidates for further information.

Changing the group's details or to deregister the group can be done online at SSP.

Groups of candidates are automatically dissolved after election day.

Record keeping

All groups of candidates must keep records for five years. This is required to demonstrate compliance in relation to all electoral expenditure, disclosure, and dedicated campaign bank account requirements.

See Fact sheet 8 – Record keeping requirements.

Compliance

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA which includes penalties for election participants who breach their disclosure obligations.

The compliance framework is available on the ECQ website.

For further information

This fact sheet mainly refers to part 4, division 2 and part 6 of the LGEA. The LGEA is available in full at legislation.qld.gov.au. Participants in the electoral process should ensure they understand their obligations under the LGEA.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Group membership changes

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011. The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to candidates, groups of candidates and their agents participating in local elections and by-elections.

For information about how to register a group of candidates for an election, please refer to Fact sheet 22 – Group registration process.

Can the membership of a group change?

Once a group of candidates has registered for an election, the group may change its membership by adding or removing group members or it may change the group's name. A group can also de-register (i.e., wind up) for the election if the candidates decide to stop campaigning together as a group.

The agent of the group can apply to change the group's membership or de-register the group at any time up to the day before election day. The application must be lodged with the ECQ using the approved form. The agent can contact the ECQ for the necessary form.

Changing a group's membership has implications for the group's election obligations as well as the obligations of any new or former group members. It is the agent's responsibility to ensure they and each group member have a good understanding of these obligations before submitting the group membership change application.

When new members join an existing group, the group must not engage in any group campaign activities with the new members until the ECQ has approved the group change application.

The group also must not engage in group campaign activities with any former group members.

What happens when a new member joins a group?

A candidate may join a group at the time of the group's registration or through a change to the group's membership. The group's name will only appear next to the candidate's name on the ballot papers for the election if they join the group before the close of nominations.

If new members join an existing group, the group must take care to not engage in group campaign activities with the new members until the application has been approved by the ECQ. Examples of group campaign activities can be found in Fact sheet 22 – Group registration process.

Any electoral expenditure incurred by a candidate prior to joining a group will count towards the group's expenditure cap. The new group member should inform the group's agent about these amounts as soon as possible after joining the group. The group will also need to recalculate its electoral expenditure cap under section 123I of the LGEA to include the candidate's individual capped amount.

Any electoral expenditure incurred by a candidate prior to joining a group will count towards the group's expenditure cap.

If a candidate joins the group and has gifts or loans received or expenditure incurred that have not yet been disclosed, the candidate remains responsible for lodging returns for these items.

If the new group member had a dedicated campaign bank account for the election prior to joining the group, they may transfer any monies in the account into the group's dedicated campaign bank account. Alternatively, they may keep the money in the account for a future election, or pay it to a charity or a political party (provided the candidate was a member of the party during their disclosure period). The old account may no longer be used for the election. A copy of the bank statement must be given to the group's agent and included as part of the group's election summary return.

What happens when a candidate leaves a group?

A candidate may leave a group because of a change to the group's membership or because the group is wound up. If the change occurs after the close of nominations, the group's name will still appear next to the candidate's name on the ballot papers for the election.

Any gifts or loans received by the candidate while they were a member of the group will be taken to have been received by the group. Similarly, any electoral expenditure incurred by the candidate while they were a member of the group will be taken to have been incurred by the group. If the electoral expenditure was incurred during the capped expenditure period for the election, it will also count towards the group's expenditure cap.

Any gifts or loans received or any electoral expenditure incurred by a candidate while they were a member of a group will be taken to have been received or incurred by the group.

The group's agent is responsible for disclosing any amounts received or incurred by the candidate while they were a member of the group via the group's real-time returns and election summary return.

The candidate will be responsible for lodging real-time returns for amounts they receive or incur after they leave the group, and they will need to lodge their own separate election summary return after the election.

Both the group and the candidate will need to recalculate their expenditure caps under section 123K of the LGEA. See below for an example.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

After leaving the group, the former group member can no longer be able to use the group's dedicated campaign bank account. No previously deposited amounts can be transferred out of the account.

If the candidate leaving the group is still intending to contest or nominate for the election, they will need to establish their own dedicated campaign bank account for the election and notify the ECQ of the account details within 5 business days of leaving the group.

If a group is wound up, the agent for the group will continue to be responsible for lodging the group's real-time disclosure returns and election summary return.

EXAMPLE

Candidate A became a member of the group Team Hoppy Kangaroo when the group registered with the ECQ for the upcoming March local government elections.

However, on 13 December, Candidate A decided to leave Team Hoppy Kangaroo and campaign as an individual candidate going forward.

Since Candidate A left the group during the capped expenditure period of the election, the expenditure cap for both Team Hoppy Kangaroo and Candidate A must be re-calculated.

For re-calculation purposes, we will need the original expenditure cap for the group as well as expenditure capped amounts for councillors and mayors for the local government area. We also need the amount of electoral expenditure incurred by the group during the capped expenditure period. The expenditure cap of a group cannot be more than the maximum amount for the election.

- Before Candidate A left the group, Team Hoppy Kangaroo had 6 members running for councillor positions and 1 member running for the mayoral position.
- The expenditure cap for the local government area is $15,000 for councillors and $30,000 for mayors.
- The expenditure cap for Team Hoppy Kangaroo before Candidate A left was $120,000. (For more detail on how to calculate the expenditure cap of a group of candidates, please see Fact sheet 22 – Group registration process)
- Team Hoppy Kangaroo incurred $35,000 in electoral expenditure before Candidate A left the group.

Determining the group's expenditure cap after Candidate A leaves the group is a 2-step process.

First, we must calculate Candidate A's expenditure cap as an individual candidate for the remainder of the election. This calculation takes into account the amount of expenditure the group has already incurred.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

EXAMPLE (CONT.)

The formula for Candidate A's new capped amount is:

$$15,000 - \left(\frac{15,000}{120,000} \times 35,000\right) = 10,625$$

Candidate A's new expenditure cap is $10,625.

Once Candidate A's new expenditure cap is calculated, we can determine Team Hoppy Kangaroo's new capped amount. We take the group's expenditure cap before Candidate A left and subtract Candidate A's new individual expenditure cap. The difference is Team Hoppy Kangaroo's new expenditure cap.

$$$120,000 - $10,625 = $109,375$$

$109,375 is Team Hoppy Kangaroo's new capped amount.

The formulas for these calculations can be found in the LGEA section 123K.

Funding and disclosure overview

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to agents of participants in local elections and by-elections, who may be acting on behalf of candidates, groups of candidates, registered political parties or third parties.

What is an agent?

An agent is the person responsible for ensuring an election participant's obligations under the LGEA are met.

Election participants and their agents have a responsibility to familiarise themselves with all relevant and current legislative provisions. Failure to do so cannot be used as an excuse for failing to comply with any legislative requirement.

What are an agent's responsibilities?

An agent is responsible for:

- ensuring all disclosure returns for gifts, loans, and expenditure are lodged by the due date before, during, and after the election
- ensuring all information contained in the returns is complete and accurate
- informing their participant (and any of their associated entities) about the obligations that apply to them under the LGEA
- establishing and maintaining appropriate systems to support their participant (and any of their associated entities) to comply with their obligations
- informing donors about their disclosure obligations under the LGEA, and taking reasonable steps to notify the public
- maintaining records for 5 years after the election, demonstrating that they have taken reasonable action as an agent to fulfil their above responsibilities, and
- responding to the ECQ about any matters which arise in respect of their participant's compliance (before, during, and after the election).

While agents are responsible for these obligations, election participants also have an obligation to ensure agents do not give information to the ECQ that the participant knows to be false or misleading. Allowing an agent to do so carries a maximum penalty of 100 penalty units ($16,690 as at 1 July 2025) under section 195 of the LGEA. The ECQ recommends that an agent ensures their participant/s review any completed returns before they are submitted.

The ECQ has provided a range of fact sheets and handbooks so election participants can be familiar with their disclosure, expenditure cap and dedicated campaign bank account obligations during local government elections. Agents should refer to the information for their relevant election participant to understand their obligations.

Who can be an agent?

An agent must be an adult who has consented to their appointment in writing, and signed a declaration that they are eligible for appointment.

Any person who has been convicted of an electoral funding or financial disclosure offence against the LGEA is not eligible for appointment as an agent.

Appointment of agents

This table summarises division 2 of the LGEA, which sets out the election participants that either must or may appoint an agent and when they should do so.

Election participant	Requirement to appoint an agent:		Information about appointment
	MUST	MAY
Individual candidate			Notification to the ECQ is only required if the candidate chooses to appoint an agent. An agent can be appointed via Form FAD3B found at ecq.qld.gov.au/factsheets .
Group of candidates			The appointment of an agent must be included with the group's notice to the ECQ of their formation under section 42 of the LGEA. Each candidate in the group must sign this notice.
Registered political party			This will be the agent appointed under the Electoral Act 1992 .
Registered third party (an individual)			Notification to the ECQ is only required if the registered third party (individual) chooses to appoint an agent. An agent can be appointed via Form FAD3C found at ecq.qld.gov.au/factsheets .

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Election participant	Requirement to appoint an agent:		Information about appointment
	MUST	MAY
Registered third party (not an individual)			If a registered third party is not an individual, they must include a notice of the appointment of an agent with their application to ECQ for registration for an election under section 127F of the LGEA.
Unregistered third party			Notification to the ECQ is only required if the unregistered third party chooses to appoint an agent. An agent can be appointed by contacting the ECQ.

Change or removal of agents

If circumstances change and the agent is no longer able to perform their duties, they can give the ECQ a signed notice stating that they have resigned as the agent. An agent can also be removed if the entity that appointed the agent provides the ECQ with a signed notice stating that the agent's appointment has ceased. Once an agent resigns or is removed, a new agent can be appointed, including after the close of candidate nominations.

If, at any time, an agent is not appointed for an entity that must have an agent, then each member of the executive committee (for registered political parties and third party organisations) or each member of the group (for a group of candidates) assume responsibility for the obligations under the LGEA, including any penalties which may be imposed for non-compliance. Notice of appointment of another agent must be given to the ECQ within 28 days.

An agent is appointed for one election only. Agents must be re-appointed for each election if desired by the election participant or required by the LGEA.

Record keeping

All agents must keep records for 5 years. This is required to demonstrate compliance in relation to all electoral expenditure cap, disclosure, and dedicated campaign bank account requirements. See Fact sheet 8 – Record keeping information for further details.

Compliance

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA which includes penalties for election participants who breach their disclosure obligations.

The compliance framework is available on the ECQ website.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Dedicated campaign bank accounts

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to registered groups of candidates participating in local elections and by-elections, as well as the group's agent and associated entities.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

Failure to comply with the dedicated campaign bank account requirements is an offence under the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 that carries substantial penalties. It is also an integrity offence under the Local Government Act 2009. All candidates in the group are responsible for ensuring compliance with these requirements. The ECQ has prosecuted candidates for failing to comply with these requirements. Refer to the end of this fact sheet for a case study.

All groups of candidates for a local government election must:

- establish a group dedicated campaign bank account with a financial institution
- use the account to pay for all campaign expenses including electoral expenditure
- use the account to receive all gifts and loans received by members of the group for the election.

The account must not be used for any other purposes. Candidates who are members of the group must not use any other account to accept gifts or loans or to pay for electoral expenditure.

Credit cards must not be used to pay for campaign expenses. Debit cards linked to the dedicated campaign bank account are acceptable.

Any funds remaining in the account at the end of the election can only be dealt with in certain ways (see below for further information).

If a group of candidates has an associated entity, the entity must use the group's dedicated campaign bank account to pay for all campaign expenses and to receive all gifts and loans. See Fact sheet 37 – Funding and disclosure overview for associated entities for further information about associated entity obligations.

When to open a dedicated campaign bank account

Groups of candidates must open a dedicated campaign bank account before the group registers with the ECQ. The account must also be opened before paying for any electoral expenditure or accepting any gifts or loans for the election.

A group cannot register with the ECQ unless they have opened a dedicated campaign bank account. Candidates in the group cannot be nominated for election unless they have dedicated bank account details.

Electoral Commission
QUEENSLAND

Groups that regularly participate in local government elections may keep the same bank account for successive local elections. A new account does not have to be opened each time. However, all disclosure and reporting requirements must be met in full for each election.

When to notify the ECQ of bank account details

Groups must notify the ECQ of their dedicated campaign bank account details as part of their application to register the group.

If any account details change, the agent of the group must notify the ECQ within 5 business days of the change.

Bank account details can be updated through the ECQ's Self Service Portal.

The dedicated campaign bank account details will also need to be provided as part of each candidate's nomination process. Nominations cannot be accepted without these details.

What can go into the dedicated campaign bank account?

Any gifts (donations) or loans received for the conduct of a group's election campaign must be deposited directly into the group's dedicated campaign bank account.

Group members using their own money to fund the group's campaign (including money held in a joint account with a spouse) must transfer the money into the group's dedicated campaign bank account before using it to pay for any electoral expenditure.

However, group members should consider only transferring their own funds into the group's dedicated campaign bank account on an as-needed basis, as any excess amounts deposited into the account cannot simply be withdrawn at the end of the election. Additionally, group members cannot 'loan' the group money to be paid back from the dedicated campaign bank account after the election.

Physical cash must be deposited into the dedicated campaign bank account before it can be used to pay for electoral expenditure.

Gifts or loans from prohibited donors must never be accepted or placed in a dedicated campaign bank account, directly or indirectly. For further information about prohibited donors, refer to Fact sheet 42 – Definition of prohibited donors, property developers and close associates and Fact sheet 43 – Ban on political donations from prohibited donors.

Group members should consider transferring their own funds only on an as-needed basis.

Even after the election, funds cannot be transferred back into personal bank accounts.

What can be paid from the account?

The dedicated campaign bank account must only be used to pay for campaign expenses relating to a local government election.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

All campaign expenses including electoral expenditure must be paid from the dedicated campaign bank account, and only in the following ways:

- via an electronic funds transfer
- using a debit card that withdraws the payment directly from the account
- using cash withdrawn from the account (provided the amount withdrawn does not exceed the amount to be paid, rounded up to the nearest amount an ATM can dispense, if applicable).

Loans received into the dedicated campaign bank account can be repaid from the account, provided the loan is not from one of the group members themselves.

The use of a credit card to pay for any campaign expense is strictly prohibited, as is using funds in a dedicated campaign bank account to pay a charge incurred using a credit card. See Fact Sheet 15 for further information about the ban on credit card use.

What does the group do with the account after the election?

Any amounts remaining in the dedicated campaign bank account at the end of the election may only be dealt with in the following ways:

- be kept in the account for a future local election
- be paid to a charity
- be paid to a political party (only if each group member was a member of the party during the group's disclosure period).

Excess amounts cannot be transferred, paid or withdrawn for any other purpose (even if the amounts are made up of the group members' own funds).

Groups that intend to contest a future local election should keep the account open so that it can be used to receive any gifts or loans, or pay for any electoral expenditure, for subsequent elections.

Records relating to the dedicated campaign bank account must be kept and made available to the ECQ for at least 5 years after the election. For further information about record keeping requirements, refer to Fact sheet 8 – Record keeping requirements.

Compliance and penalties

There are significant financial penalties for not complying with the dedicated campaign bank account requirements and for using a credit card for electoral expenditure. Each candidate in the group is responsible for ensuring compliance with these requirements.

Failure to comply with either requirement carries a maximum penalty of 100 penalty units (valued at $16,690 as of 1 July 2025).

Failing to comply with the dedicated campaign bank account requirements is also an integrity offence. Being convicted of an integrity offence means a person will be disqualified from becoming a councillor.

 CASE STUDY*Case study 1

A candidate for the 2020 elections failed to use their dedicated bank account, instead using “cash in a tin” to pay for electoral expenditure. The candidate also did not disclose these transactions until contacted by the ECQ.

The candidate was prosecuted and fined $1,200 plus $1,200 in legal fees.

The candidate was subsequently disqualified from being a councillor (or local government candidate) for 4 years.

Case study 2

Through its compliance activities, the ECQ identified that a candidate failed to disclose roughly $70,000 in electoral expenditure for the election across 30 transactions. The candidate stated that they had someone working for them to complete the disclosures, but that person was not an appointed agent for the candidate. The candidate also incurred roughly $23,500 across 19 transactions in electoral expenditure using a credit card, which is prohibited under the LGEA.

The ECQ decided to prosecute the candidate, due to the significant non-compliance. The candidate was fined $6,500, plus had to pay legal costs of $1,500.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Real-time disclosure of gifts and loans

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to agents of groups of candidates and their associated entities.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

Failure to disclose gifts or loans within the time required is an offence under the LGEA. The ECQ issued over 380 fines to candidates in the 2020 local government elections for not complying with their disclosure requirements.

What gifts and loans need to be disclosed?

Agents of groups of candidates must disclose all gifts and loans of $500 or more received by the group during the group's disclosure period.

The $500 threshold applies to a single gift or loan, as well as cumulative amounts if multiple gifts or loans are received from the same donor (see examples below).

For information about what is and is not a gift or loan, see Fact Sheet 10 – Definition of gifts and loans.

What is real-time disclosure of gifts and loans?

Queensland has real-time disclosure laws which means gifts and loans are disclosed upon receipt.

The agent of a group which receives a gift or loan must disclose the amount within 7 business days of receipt.

During the 7 business days prior to election day, gifts and loans must be disclosed within 24 hours of receipt.

 EXAMPLES

Example 1

A printer gives a group of candidates a $750 discount when printing their election material. Since the discount is equal to or above the $500 gift threshold, the group's agent must lodge a return disclosing the gift within 7 business days.

Group of candidates A receives a $300 gift from a supporter. A few weeks later, the group receives another $200 gift from the same supporter.

As the group received $500 from the same person, the group's agent must lodge a return disclosing the details of both gifts. This return must be lodged within 7 business days of receiving the second gift.

Example 3

In mid-January, group of candidates B receives a $1500 gift from a supporter. Because the gift is above the $500 threshold, the group's agent must lodge a return within 7 business days.

The supporter gives group of candidates B a $50 gift 4 days before the March election. As the supporter has already given $500 or more to the group and it is within 7 business days of the election, the group's agent needs to lodge a return for this gift within 24 hours.

How are gifts and loans disclosed?

Gifts and loans must be disclosed to the ECQ in a return.

The agent of the group is responsible for lodging the return.

Returns are lodged online via the ECQ's Electronic Disclosure System (EDS) at disclosures.ecq.qld.gov.au.

The public can view returns immediately after they have been lodged.

The $500 gift disclosure threshold is for each election. Any gifts received 30 or more days after an election count towards the $500 threshold for the group's next election (no matter if it is a general election or a by-election).

What is included in a return?

Each real-time return must include the relevant details of the gift or loan. This includes, but is not limited to:

- the value of the gift or loan
- the date it was made
- the name and address of the donor
- whether the donor has an interest in a local government matter (and if so, the nature of the donor's interest)
- the name and relevant details of the original source of the gift or loan (if applicable).

Returns for loans must also include the terms and conditions of the loan.

For the full list of relevant details required to be included in a return, see Fact sheet 11 – Relevant details of gifts and loans.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Do groups of candidates need to disclose gifts and loans after the election?

After an election, the agent of a group must complete an election summary return.

The election summary return is due 15 weeks after election day.

For more information, see Fact sheet 14 – Election summary returns.

Associated entities of groups

Associated entities of groups of candidates must comply with the same reporting obligations as their groups if they receive gifts or loans of $500 or more.

Please see Fact sheet 37 for a funding and disclosure overview for associated entities.

Prohibited gifts and loans

It is unlawful for a group of candidates to receive anonymous gifts or loans totalling $500 or more. This includes gifts or loans where the name, address or other required details of the donor are not known to the group.

Record keeping

All election participants must keep records for 5 years. This is required to demonstrate compliance in relation to all electoral expenditure, disclosure, and dedicated campaign bank account requirements.

See Fact Sheet 8 for record keeping requirements.

Compliance

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA which includes penalties for election participants who breach their disclosure obligations.

The compliance framework is available on the ECQ's website.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Relevant details and sources of gifts and loans

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

Why are relevant details important?

When lodging returns with the ECQ, election participants are required to disclose the relevant details of gifts and loans received. To ensure obligations are met, the election participant must collect all relevant details of the donor when the election participant receives the gift or loan.

Details of gifts and loans must be disclosed to ensure the transfer of funds or property from donors to election participants, before and after elections, is transparent.

What are relevant details?

For all types of entities, the following details are required:

- the value of the gift or loan
- the date the gift or loan was made
- for a loan – the terms of the loan
- if the person making the gift or loan has an interest in a local government matter that is greater than that of other persons in the local government area:
 - that fact; and
 - the nature of the person's interest
- if the gift or loan is made by an entity that is not the source of the gift or loan:
 - that fact; and
 - the relevant details of the entity that is the source of the gift or loan.

Depending on the type of entity that made the gift or loan, the following details are also required:

Type of entity that made the gift or loan	Relevant details
Individual	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The individual's name • The individual's address • The individual's occupation • If the individual is employed, has a business, or is otherwise engaged in an industry, the type of business or industry the individual works in.

If none of the above	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The name and address of the entity.

How are relevant details obtained?

When accepting gifts of money, electoral expenditure or loans, the election participant must obtain the relevant details for the gift. The ECQ recommends that these details are taken in writing for record keeping purposes. This is a dual obligation: the election participant receiving the gift or loan must collect the information and the donor must give the information.

The ECQ has developed a sample notice which election participants can use to collect relevant details from potential donors before accepting their donation: Sample notice from donors to recipients.

Who is responsible for informing donors and the public?

Election participants are responsible for informing donors that they may also have an obligation to lodge a return with the ECQ. The notice should be given in writing within 7 business days of receiving the gift. A sample notice is available from the ECQ: Sample notice from recipients to donors.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Election participants are also responsible for informing the public that the participant has disclosure obligations. A sample notice is available from the ECQ: Sample notice to public.

Who is the original source of a gift or loan?

If someone makes a gift or loan to another person for the main purpose of enabling the recipient to make a gift or loan to a candidate or other election participant, the first person is referred to as the 'original source' of the gift or loan.

The relevant details of the original source as well as those of the person who made the gift or loan directly to the election participant, must be disclosed in returns lodged with the ECQ.

What happens if the relevant details are not known?

It is unlawful for a candidate, group of candidates, or third party to receive a gift or loan of $500 or more unless they know or obtain the relevant details of the gift or loan at the time it is received.

If a person receives a gift or loan without the relevant details, an amount equal to the value may be recovered by the State (i.e., the ECQ). To avoid any doubt about the details of a donor, the ECQ strongly encourages election participants to obtain the relevant details for all gifts and loans, even those less than $500.

Registered political parties do not have gift and loan disclosure obligations under the LGEA. Agents of registered political parties are obliged to continue to follow the disclosure requirements under the Electoral Act 1992.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Disclosure of gifts made

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to individuals or organisations that make gifts to candidates, groups of candidates, registered political parties or other third parties participating in a local government election or by-election.

What is a gift?

A gift is a present of money, property or service given without receiving something of equal (or adequate) value in return.

For more details and examples of gifts, please refer to Fact sheet 10 – Definition of gifts and loans.

What gifts need to be disclosed?

If a person or organisation makes a gift to a candidate, a group of candidates, a registered political party or another third party totalling $500 or more within the disclosure period for the election, the person or organisation must provide a disclosure return to the ECQ within 7 business days. An election summary return must also be lodged after the election.

Gifts are cumulative. It does not matter whether the gift was made in small amounts or all at once. Once the threshold of $500 is met, all previous and future gifts made to the same election participant must be disclosed, no matter their value.

 EXAMPLES

- 1) Third Party I gives $300 to Candidate A then later gives another gift of $200 to Candidate A. Because Third Party I has made gifts totalling $500 or more, they are required to lodge a return for each of the 2 gifts.
- 2) Third Party II gives $400 to Candidate B then pays $250 for flyers for Candidate B. Because Third Party II has made gifts and gifted electoral expenditure over $500, they are required to lodge a return for each of the gifts.
- 3) Third Party III gave $1000 to a non-profit organisation to use for campaign purposes. Because Third Party III has made a gift of $500 or more, they must lodge a return for the gift.

When do gifts need to be disclosed?

Queensland has real-time disclosure laws. Gifts must be disclosed within 7 business days of reaching the $500 threshold. Once the donor reaches this threshold, every subsequent gift made to the same election participant must be disclosed within 7 business days, regardless of value.

Donors must also lodge an election summary return within 15 weeks after the election, stating the total amount of gifts made during the disclosure period.

The $500 threshold resets 30 days after an election. Gifts given for the 2024 local government election do not need to be counted in the gift threshold for a by-election in 2024 or beyond.

How is a gift disclosed?

Gifts must be disclosed to the ECQ in a return.

Returns are lodged online via the ECQ's Electronic Disclosure System (EDS) at disclosures.ecq.qld.gov.au.

The public can view returns within 24 hours after they have been lodged.

What is included in a return?

A return for a gift must include the following details:

- the name of the recipient
- the value of the gift
- the date the gift was given
- the name and relevant details of the original source of the gift (if applicable).

The donor also has an obligation to provide the relevant details of the gift directly to the recipient. This is referred to as a Notice of Details.

The relevant details required in a Notice of Details include but are not limited to:

- the donor's name and address
- the value of the gift
- the date the gift was given
- whether the donor has an interest in a local government matter (and if so, the nature of the donor's interest)
- the name and relevant details of the original source of the gift (if applicable).

For the full list of relevant details, see Fact Sheet 11 – Relevant details of gifts and loans.

A sample Notice of Details is available on the ECQ's website.

A Notice of Details is also required if a donor makes a loan of $500 or more to an election participant.

The recipient of a gift or loan must also collect this information and disclose it in their own returns. The information will be published on the EDS in accordance with legislative requirements.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Ban on political donations from prohibited donors

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

On 19 March 2026, Queensland's electoral laws were amended to allow property developers and their close associates to make political donations for state electoral purposes. However, the ban on political donations from prohibited donors still applies for local government elections.

This fact sheet relates to candidates, groups of candidates, political parties, associated entities, third parties and donors who participate in local elections and by-elections.

What is the ban on political donations?

Queensland's local government electoral laws ban political donations from being made by or received from prohibited donors.

It is also illegal to ask someone to make a political donation on behalf of a prohibited donor.

Who is a prohibited donor?

A prohibited donor includes:

- a property developer
- a close associate of a property developer
- an industry representative organisation with property developers as the majority of its members.

Please see Fact sheet 42 – Definition of prohibited donors, property developers and close associates for further information.

Individuals or entities that are unsure about whether or not they are a prohibited donor may apply to the ECQ for a determination. See Fact sheet 44 – Applications for a prohibited donor determination.

What is a political donation?

A political donation is any gift or loan made to:

- a councillor or mayor
- a candidate or group of candidates in a local government election
- a political party (unless it is a restricted donation – see next page)
- another entity to make or reimburse a gift to any of the above, or to incur electoral expenditure for a local government election.

Political donations from prohibited donors are strictly prohibited.

For more definitions, please refer to Fact sheet 10 – Definition of gifts and loans and Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure.

Commission
QUEENSLAND

FUNDRAISING CONTRIBUTIONS

All fundraising contributions (including amounts under $200) are political donations and are unlawful if made by a prohibited donor. This includes payments for entry fees, raffle tickets or purchases of merchandise.

While it is permissible for a prohibited donor to attend a fundraising event for free, they cannot pay for any costs associated with hosting or organising the event (e.g. venue costs).

PARTY MEMBERSHIP FEES

Fees paid for political party membership or affiliations are political donations if the total amount paid exceeds $1,000 in a calendar year.

PERSONAL GIFTS

Gifts made in a private capacity for personal use are not considered political donations. However, if any part of the gift is later used for electoral expenditure or for a councillor to carry out their duties, then that part of the gift is considered a political donation.

HOSPITALITY

The ECQ does not consider acts of hospitality (e.g. light refreshments or a modest meal) to be political donations. These may be accepted from a prohibited donor in the course of a councillor carrying out their official duties or attending an event in an official capacity.

The value of such acts of hospitality should not exceed $200 (non-cumulative) as a guide.

STATE DONATIONS

The ban on prohibited donor donations for state elections was lifted on 19 March 2026. This means prohibited donors may lawfully donate to Queensland members of Parliament and state candidates. Prohibited donors may also make restricted donations to political parties for state electoral purposes (see below).

FEDERAL DONATIONS

Prohibited donors are allowed to make donations for federal electoral purposes provided the recipient places the amount in a federal bank account and only uses it for a federal purpose.

What is a restricted donation?

A prohibited donor may lawfully make a gift or loan to a political party if they notify the party that the donation must not be used for a local election purpose. These donations are called restricted donations.

To make a restricted donation, the donor must give the political party a restricted donation statement. This statement must:

- be in writing
- be made by the donor of the gift or loan
- state the relevant particulars of the donor
- state that the gift or loan is made with the intention that it is not used for a local government electoral purpose
- be given to the recipient when the gift or loan is made.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

The relevant particulars are:

- the name and address of the donor
- if the donor is an unincorporated association – the names and addresses of the members of the executive committee (however described) of the association
- if the donor is a trust fund or foundation – the names and addresses of the trustees, or the title or description of the trust fund or the name of the foundation.

A local government electoral purpose is a purpose that relates to a local government election. To avoid doubt, the ECQ strongly encourages restricted donation statements to clearly state that the donation is made with the intention that is not used for a local election purpose. It should also clearly identify the donation to which the statement is being made.

Restricted donations must not be used for a local election purpose. Registered political parties must not deposit a restricted donation into their local campaign bank account.

Penalties apply to unlawful use of restricted donations. The ECQ can also recover twice the amount of the donation as a debt to the State.

Gifts or loans accompanied by a restricted donation statement are called restricted donations.

It is legal for a prohibited donor to give a restricted donation to a political party provided it is not used for a local election purpose.

DISCLOSURE OF RESTRICTED DONATIONS

Restricted donations are subject to the same disclosure laws that apply to other gifts and loans. Donations of $500 or more (cumulative) must be disclosed in real-time by the donor. More details can be found in Fact sheet 9 – Disclosure of gifts made.

If a restricted donation of $1,000 or more is made to a registered political party, state disclosure laws also apply to both the donor and the party. Please refer to:

- State Fact sheet 12 – Real-time disclosure of gifts and loans by registered political parties
- State Fact sheet 23 – Disclosure of gifts made to registered political parties and candidates.

RESTRICTED DONATIONS AND POLITICAL DONATION CAPS

Political donation caps will apply to a restricted donation if it is accompanied by both a restricted donation statement and a donor statement.

A donor statement is a separate written statement made by the donor that allows the political party to use the amount specifically for state electoral expenditure.

For more information about political donations, see:

- State Fact sheet 5A – Definition of political donations and donor statements
- State Fact sheet 6 – Political donation caps.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

 EXAMPLE

A property developer wants to donate to The Bronze Party ahead of the 2028 state general election. The party wants to use the donation to pay for their election flyers.

The property developer must give both a restricted donation statement and a donor statement to The Bronze Party with their donation.

The donation cannot be used for a local election purpose and must not be deposited into the party's local campaign bank account. The donation is subject to disclosure laws and political donation caps.

Compliance

Except where accompanied by a restricted donor statement and for a political party, it is unlawful for:

- a prohibited donor to make a political donation
- a person to make a political donation on behalf of a prohibited donor
- a person to accept a political donation that was made (wholly or in part) by or on behalf of a prohibited donor
- a prohibited donor to solicit a person to make a political donation
- a person to solicit, on behalf of a prohibited donor, another person to make a political donation
- a political party to use a restricted donation for a local government electoral purpose
- a political party to deposit a restricted donation into its local campaign bank account
- a person to knowingly participate¹, directly or indirectly, in a scheme² to circumvent any of the above unlawful activities.

Penalties for committing any of the above offences will vary depending on the circumstances. Penalties may include fines of up to 400 penalty units ($66,760 as at 1 July 2025) for some offences, 1,500 penalty units ($250,350 as at 1 July 2025) for others, or potential terms of imprisonment ranging from two to 10 years.

As well as these criminal provisions, the ECQ has the power to recover the value of the donation made from the recipient as a debt due to the State. In instances where the recipient knew it was unlawful to receive the donation, then the amount to be recovered is double the value of the donation.

If a prohibited donor makes a donation to a political party without also giving a restricted donor statement, the donation will be unlawful even if the donation is not used for a local electoral purpose. This is because donations made by prohibited donors without a restricted donor statement are political donations, which are unlawful.

² 'Scheme' is expressly defined to include 'arrangement, agreement, course of conduct, promise or undertaking, whether express or implied'.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Using online fundraising platforms

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to any election participant who is considering using an online payment platform to raise funds for their election campaign. Examples of payment platforms include TryBooking, GoFundMe, Humantix, Stripe and NationBuilder.

The purpose of this fact sheet is to outline how your obligations as an election participant apply in the context of these platforms and highlight the potential risks associated with using them. The ECQ does not endorse the use of any particular platform for election purposes. All election participants assume any risks associated with the platforms.

Am I allowed to use online payment platforms for my election campaign?

The LGEA does not prohibit the use of online payment platforms or fundraising websites to accept donations for an election campaign.

However, all election participants have obligations relating to disclosure, dedicated bank accounts, anonymous and prohibited donations, and record keeping. Further information about each of these obligations can be found on the ECQ's website.

All election participants must ensure that any platform they use enables them to comply with all of these obligations, as discussed further below.

Disclosure

To enable you to comply with your disclosure obligations, you must ensure that every person who donates to you for your election campaign provides their relevant details. The information required to be collected is outlined in Fact sheet 11 – Relevant details and sources of gifts and loans.

If your selected payment platform allows people to donate without providing these details, you assume the risk that you will not be able to comply with your disclosure obligations.

Dedicated bank accounts

Any funds raised via your selected payment platform must be placed into your dedicated campaign bank account.

You may link your platform directly to your dedicated account. Alternatively, you may link the platform to another bank account and then transfer any donations received into your dedicated account. Both approaches have risks which you must manage and ensure appropriate processes are in place to ensure compliance.

Anonymous donations

It is unlawful for candidates and groups of candidates to receive anonymous donations to fund their election campaign. As such, you must ensure that your selected payment platform does not allow for a donor to remain anonymous to you.

Failing to ensure your selected platform is set up properly may result in an offence being committed and the donation being recovered by the ECQ as a debt payable to the State.

Prohibited donations

If accepting donations via a payment platform, there is a risk that you may receive a donation from a prohibited donor, either knowingly or unknowingly. When choosing whether to use a payment or fundraising platform, or which one to use, you should consider how to mitigate this risk.

Accepting an amount from a prohibited donor may result in an offence being committed and the donation being recovered by the ECQ.

Record keeping

All electoral participants have record keeping obligations, including records demonstrating compliance with all of the above requirements. When selecting a payment platform, check that you have the ability to extract relevant information about donors, amounts, etc. for your own records.

Similarly, when shutting down a payment platform, ensure you extract all information for your own retention. Not being able to access an old fundraising platform is not a reasonable excuse for not having records and is not a sufficient excuse against a charge of non-compliance.

CASE STUDIES

Example 1

As part of its standard compliance activities, the ECQ identified that a candidate received donations via TryBooking valued at $9,900. This amount was disclosed in the candidate's election summary return, but not in real-time.

The candidate advised that they had not disclosed each individual donation as no single donor gave $500 or more. The candidate was able to produce a report directly from TryBooking, which demonstrated that each donor only gave $450.

As the candidate had demonstrated full compliance, the matter was closed.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

 CASE STUDIES CONT.

Example 2

The ECQ requested a candidate to provide records relating to $2,660 received via a payment platform, none of which amount had been disclosed in real-time. The candidate provided the report, but upon review, identified that a single donor had donated $250 five separate times, equating to $1,250. The payment platform the candidate used for their campaign did not allow them to easily track multiple donations by the same person.

The candidate was required to disclose the five donations and was issued a fine for two penalty units for not complying with their disclosure obligations.

CANDIDATES, GROUPS OF CANDIDATES AND REGISTERED POLITICAL PARTIES

Real-time disclosure of electoral expenditure

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet applies to candidates, groups of candidates, and registered political parties as well as their agents and associated entities.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

Failure to disclose electoral expenditure within the time required is an offence under the LGEA. The ECQ issued over 380 fines to candidates in the 2020 local government elections for not complying with their disclosure requirements.

When an election participant incurs electoral expenditure of $500 or more, a return disclosing the expenditure must be given to the ECQ.

Electoral expenditure is cumulative: it does not matter whether the expenditure was incurred in small amounts or all at once. Once the $500 threshold has been reached, all previous and future expenditure must be disclosed regardless of value.

If the election participant has an agent, the agent is responsible for completing the returns.

What is real-time disclosure?

All election participants who incur $500 or more in electoral expenditure must give the ECQ a return within 7 business days of the expense being incurred.

If there are 7 or fewer business days before the election when the expense is incurred, the return must be given within 24 hours.

When is the electoral expenditure incurred? Electoral expenditure is usually incurred when the election material is supplied or when the material is first used for a campaign purpose. For more details, please refer to Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure.

 EXAMPLES*Example 1

Candidate A incurs electoral expenditure of $750 on Monday when they begin distributing flyers in their council area. Because the amount of electoral expenditure is $500 or more, Candidate A must lodge a return by the following Wednesday (assuming there are no public holidays).

Group of candidates Q incurs $300 of electoral expenditure. A month later on a Wednesday, Group Q incurs another $200 of electoral expenditure. Because the total amount of electoral expenditure is $500 or more, the agent for Group Q must lodge returns covering both amounts of expenditure by the following Friday (assuming there are no public holidays).

Example 3

On the Thursday afternoon before election day, Candidate B incurs $150 of electoral expenditure by launching a social media ad campaign. Candidate B has already incurred $10,000 in electoral expenditure. As such, they must lodge a return for the $150 by Friday afternoon – within 24 hours of the expenditure being incurred.

What is electoral expenditure?

'Electoral expenditure' refers to money spent for a campaign purpose including but not limited to:

- designing, producing, printing, broadcasting, or publishing election material
- distributing election material
- carrying out an opinion poll or research
- contracted services relating to one of the above activities.

Please refer to Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure for more information.

How do I lodge a return?

Disclosures should be lodged in the ECQ's Electronic Disclosure System (EDS) at disclosures.ecq.qld.gov.au/.

Each expenditure return requires:

- the name and address of the person who supplied the goods or services
- a description of the goods or services
- the amount of the electoral expenditure
- when the expenditure was incurred
- the purpose of the expenditure.

The ECQ publishes electoral expenditure disclosures on its website.

What is the election summary return?

In addition to real-time disclosure, election participants must lodge an election summary return before the deadline of 15 weeks following election day.

For more information about election summary returns, see Fact sheet 14 – Election Summary Returns.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Record keeping

All election participants must keep records for 5 years. This is required to demonstrate compliance in relation to all electoral expenditure, disclosure, and dedicated campaign bank account requirements. Refer to Fact Sheet 8 for more information about record keeping requirements.

Compliance

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA, which includes penalties for election participants who breach their disclosure obligations.

The compliance framework is available on the ECQ's website.

Ban on use of credit cards – including for social media

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

Electoral expenditure and credit cards

The LGEA expressly bans the use of credit cards to pay for any campaign expense including electoral expenditure. The dedicated campaign bank account also must not be used to pay a credit card bill.

The ban extends to any person who is paying for a campaign expense with the authority of an election participant.

Expenditure can be paid with:

- a debit card that withdraws funds directly from the dedicated account
- an electronic funds transfer from the dedicated campaign bank account
- cash withdrawn from the account (provided the amount withdrawn does not exceed the amount to be paid, rounded up to the nearest amount an ATM can dispense, if applicable).

Social media and internet ad campaigns

Advertising on the internet and social media has become a popular method of reaching voters. The LGEA's rules on election matter and billing apply when placing ads online as well as when placing ads in newspapers or on television.

The most common social media companies and Google allow several methods of payment including payment with a debit card with a Visa or Mastercard logo. These companies include:

- Meta (Facebook and Instagram)
- Twitter
- LinkedIn
- Tiktok
- Google ads (includes YouTube)

Disclosure of electoral expenditure

Like other electoral expenditure, expenditure on social media ad campaigns must be disclosed both in real-time and in the election summary return. Please be aware that social media companies may bill your debit card some time after the campaigns have run. Keep an eye on the dedicated campaign bank account after the election to make sure all payments for social media electoral expenditure have been disclosed accurately.

GROUPS OF CANDIDATES

Electoral expenditure caps

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet provides information about expenditure caps for groups of candidates participating in local elections and by-elections, as well as the group's agent and associated entities.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

Failure to comply with electoral expenditure caps is an offence that carries substantial penalties. It is a serious integrity offence under the Local Government Act 2009 and a criminal offence under the Local Government Electoral Act 2011.

What are expenditure caps?

Expenditure caps are limitations on the amount of electoral expenditure that can be incurred during the capped expenditure period for a local election.

It is unlawful for a group of candidates to exceed their expenditure cap during the capped expenditure period.

The caps only apply to electoral expenditure, which has a specific meaning for local elections and by-elections. See Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure to understand more about what is and what is not electoral expenditure.

Who do expenditure caps apply to?

Expenditure caps apply to all candidates, including groups of candidates.

If a group of candidates has an associated entity, that entity is also subject to the same expenditure cap. For further information about associated entities, refer to Fact sheet 37 – Funding and disclosure overview for associated entities.

When do expenditure caps apply?

Expenditure caps apply to electoral expenditure that is incurred during the capped expenditure period for an election.

For future elections, the capped expenditure period will start on:

- for a by-election – the day the notice for the election is issued
- for the 2028 local government elections – 30 August 2027 (subject to change).

The capped expenditure period ends at 6pm on election day.

The date electoral expenditure is paid for or invoiced is not necessarily when it is incurred. For further information about when expenditure is incurred, see Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure.

Electoral Commission
QUEENSLAND

What is the expenditure cap amount?

The expenditure cap varies across each local government area on a sliding scale with reference to the number of electors. The cap also varies based on which mayoral or councillor positions the group is contesting.

The expenditure cap for a group of candidates is collectively shared by the group members.

The shared expenditure cap for the group is the sum of each group member's individual cap amount, up to the maximum number of vacancies in the local government area.

The ECQ will publish a notice of the expenditure cap amounts for candidates on its website. This will be available:

- for the 2024 local government elections – before 14 August 2023
- for a by-election – at the same time the notice for the election is issued.

Groups of candidates will need to refer to this notice to calculate their expenditure cap.

The ECQ will also provide each candidate with a notice of their expenditure cap amount as soon as practicable after their nomination is certified.

For further details about how expenditure cap amounts are calculated, see Fact sheet 13 – Expenditure cap calculations.

EXAMPLES OF CALCULATING EXPENDITURE CAPS

Example A

Group A has 3 members who are councillor candidates in Local Government Area X, and one member who is a mayoral candidate. In Local Government Area X, there are 5 councillor positions and one mayor to be elected.

The expenditure cap for a councillor candidate in Local Government Area X is $17,760 while the cap for a mayoral candidate is $35,520.

The sum of the capped amounts for each of the group members is $88,800. This is below the maximum amount of $124,320 in this scenario.

Therefore, the 4 candidates in Group A can collectively spend up to $88,800 for the election.

Example B

Local Government Area Q has a by-election after a councillor steps down. There is 1 councillor position to be elected.

Group B has 1 member who is a councillor candidate and 3 members who are sitting councillors in Local Government Area Q.

The expenditure cap for a councillor candidate in Local Government Area Q is $35,520.

The maximum amount for the by-election is $35,520.

Therefore the 4 members of Group B can collectively spend up to $35,520 for the by-election.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

EXAMPLES OF CALCULATING EXPENDITURE CAPS CONT.

Example C

Group C endorses 8 councillor candidates in Local Government Area Y. In Local Government Area Y, there are 5 councillor positions to be elected.

The expenditure cap for a councillor candidate in Local Government Area Y is $22,250.

The sum of the capped amounts for each of the group members is $178,000.

However, because there are only 5 councillor positions to be elected in Local Government Area Y, the maximum amount for the group's expenditure cap is $111,250.

Therefore, the 8 candidates in Group C may only collectively spend up to $111,250 for the election.

Changes to a group's membership

If a change is made to a group's membership during the capped expenditure period, the expenditure cap for the new and/or former group members will need to be recalculated, in accordance with sections 123J and 123K of the LGEA.

Compliance and penalties

Incurring electoral expenditure which exceeds a group's electoral expenditure cap is a criminal offence under section 123N(2) of the LGEA. Participating in a scheme to circumvent the electoral expenditure caps is also a criminal offence under section 194B of the LGEA. Both are serious integrity offences under schedule 1 of the Local Government Act 2009.

Penalties include imprisonment, fines, and disqualification from being a councillor. Twice the amount of the excess expenditure may also be recovered by the ECQ as a debt to the State.

For further information

This fact sheet mainly refers to part 6, division 4 (Caps on electoral expenditure) of the LGEA. The LGEA is available in full at legislation.qld.gov.au. Participants in the electoral process should ensure they understand their obligations under the LGEA.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Authorisation of election material

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to any person intending to print, publish, distribute or broadcast election material during a local government election or by-election period.

Election material is subject to a range of regulations which carry penalties for non-compliance.

How-to-vote cards

How-to-vote cards have specific regulations covering their design, authorisation and distribution. Please refer to Fact sheet 5 – How-to-vote cards for that information.

What is election material?

Election material means anything that can or is intended to:

- influence an elector about voting at the election
- or
- affect the result of an election.

It includes, but is not limited to, advertising via:

- radio
- television
- cinema
- social media
- internet
- email
- text message
- signs
- newspapers
- magazines
- billboards
- corflutes
- pamphlets
- flyers
- letters
- opinion polls or research.

Does the author of election material have to be named?

Any person who prints, publishes, distributes, or broadcasts election material during an election period must ensure an authorisation is stated on the material. This includes third parties such as non-profits or local organisations participating in the election as well as candidates and registered political parties.

Material can be authorised by any person.

The authorisation must show the name and address of the person authorising the material. The address can be the person's own residential or business address, or a post office box. The authoriser must be contactable at the address listed.

When is the election period?

The election period begins on the day the notice of election is published and ends when the polls close on election day.

The ECQ does not regulate authorisation of election material outside of the election period.

Examples of correct authorisations:

- On written material, an authorisation stating: 'Authorised by Bob Smith, 1 Queen Street, Brisbane'.
 - The text must be of sufficient size to be clearly legible by a voter who wishes to read the authorisation in a way the material is intended to ordinarily be read, and must not be obstructed by other objects such as screws or stickers.
 - On a double-sided, printed item like a flyer, the authorisation only needs to be printed on one side.
- On a television advertisement, a visual and spoken authorisation stating the authoriser's name and address at the end of the advertisement.
- On a radio advertisement, a spoken authorisation stating the authoriser's name and address at the end of the advertisement.
- On a social media profile or page, an authorisation should be placed in a prominent position on the page. For example, for a Facebook page set up for an election campaign, the authorisation should be stated clearly in the top banner, the 'About' section (or public profile information) or by adding an impressum to the page.
- On a social media post, digital advertisement or digital banner, every post does not need to be authorised, but it is important to ensure that election material that can be shared, forwarded or reposted carries an authorisation.
 - An authorisation should be embedded in an image or video so that any subsequent viewer can identify the authoriser.
 - If the full text of the authorisation does not fit in a post or advertisement, a link to a website that clearly identifies the authoriser is acceptable.
- On a website or app, an authorisation should be placed on each webpage on a campaign-specific website. For a general website, the authorisation would only need to be placed on webpages containing election matter.
- In a robocall (unsolicited, automated telephone messaging), a spoken authorisation at the end of the call.
- In an email, the authorisation should be in the signature block.
- In a text message, if an authorisation cannot be included in the text message itself, it should clearly refer to another document or notice (so they can properly be considered one message) and contain a link to that second part of the message so it is easily accessible to the recipient. The second part of the message must contain the authorisation information.
- In a media response or article provided to a publisher or broadcaster, an authorisation should be placed at the end of the response or article.

 CASE STUDY

During the 2024 local government elections, multiple pieces of election material were anonymously printed and distributed in several local government areas.

Using our Authorised Officer powers, the ECQ investigated and identified the authors of these anonymous flyers and mailings. The authors were fined for failing to include correct authorisations.

Misleading electors

Publishing or distributing any material during an election period that is likely to mislead an elector about the ways of voting is an offence. Breaking this rule carries penalties for non-compliance. Please see Fact sheet 7 – Offences relating to electoral advertising for further information.

Election signage during the election period

Regulations apply to the display of election signage next to local and state-controlled roads. Candidates should check these requirements prior to displaying any signage near roads.

Information on election signage and state-controlled roads can be obtained from the Department of Transport and Main Roads: qld.gov.au/transport/safety/signs/election-signs.

Local councils determine the rules that apply to election signage and advertising devices (such as corflutes) next to local roads, private property and on some state-controlled roads in their area. Before displaying any election signage, candidates should confirm their council's regulations on quantity, placement and display timeframe.

Disclosure of election material

Most election material will meet the definition of electoral expenditure. Electoral expenditure must be disclosed in real-time once the total amount reaches $500.

For more information, please refer to:

- Fact sheet 12 – Definition of electoral expenditure
- Fact sheet 18 – Real-time disclosure of electoral expenditure by candidates, groups of candidates and registered political parties
- Fact sheet 34 – Real-time disclosure of electoral expenditure by registered third parties.

Reporting non-compliance

If a person is concerned about the distribution of unauthorised material, they should make sure the material is being distributed during an election period before reporting the matter to the ECQ. Any reports of non-compliance should include evidence such as photographs or links to relevant material, if possible.

The ECQ does not manage all election related complaints. Please review Fact sheet 7 – Offences relating to electoral advertising for more details about how complaints are handled.

CANDIDATES

Nominating as a candidate for local government elections

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011. The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your circumstances, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to the nomination process for local government elections in Queensland.

The Electoral Commission of Queensland (ECQ) manages the candidate nomination process for local government elections.

In Queensland, you can be nominated as:

- an individual
- a member of a group of candidates
- an endorsed candidate of a registered political party.

Note: You can choose to stand for election as a councillor or as mayor – but not for both.

When to lodge a nomination

The nomination period commences once the Notice of Election is issued by the ECQ. This will be published on the ECQ's website.

Nominations must be lodged before midday on the last day of the nomination period. The date and time of the close of nominations are published in the Notice of Election.

How to lodge a nomination

Nominations are lodged with the Returning Officer, who is the ECQ's representative in each local government area. Contact details for Returning Officers and their office locations are available on the ECQ's website following the publication of the Notice of Election.

Nominations for candidates (including candidates who are members of a group) must be lodged on the approved nomination form, which can be accessed via the ECQ's Self Service Portal.

Completed nomination forms can be lodged with the Returning Officer responsible for the local government area being contested, or the ECQ's head office, in person or by post.

The completed form and the $250 nomination fee must be received by the Returning Officer or the ECQ before midday on the day nominations close.

If a candidate is endorsed by a registered political party, the registered officer of the political party is responsible for lodging the candidate's nomination form directly with the ECQ's head office. In this case, the candidate must ensure that all required information is provided to the party's registered officer in advance of the nomination process.

Things to do before submitting a nomination form:

MANDATORY COUNCILLOR TRAINING

Prior to nominating for a quadrennial election or by-election, all candidates are required to have completed a free online training course about the legal obligations of being a candidate and councillor.

So you want to be a councillor? is the approved training course for local government elections and is run by the Department of Local Government, Water and Volunteers (DLGWV). The link can be found on the DLGWV's website (www.dlgwv.qld.gov.au). The training will take about 90 minutes to complete and has both audio and video components.

For candidates who are not sitting councillors, the mandatory training must be completed within 6 months prior to nominating for the election. Upon completing the training, the candidate will receive a certificate of completion. This certificate should be downloaded and saved, as the nomination form will ask for the certificate's reference number as proof of completion.

Sitting councillors who have already completed the training course for a previous election do not need to retake the training before nominating for re-election.

DEDICATED CAMPAIGN BANK ACCOUNT

Candidates must open a dedicated bank account and provide the details of the bank account on their nomination form.

Candidates who are members of a group of candidates are required to have one dedicated campaign bank account for the group. Account details for the group's dedicated account must be provided on each candidate's nomination form.

For more information about how to properly use the dedicated campaign account during the election, please refer to Fact sheets 17, 22 and 27. Strict penalties apply for failing to comply.

DECLARATION OF PERSONAL INTERESTS

Details of a candidate's personal and material interests and affiliations must be declared on the nomination form. Candidates should prepare the following information before nominating:

- any membership of a registered political party or trade or professional organisation held by the candidate within the 12 months prior to nominating
- whether the candidate, or a close associate of the candidate, has a contractual arrangement¹ with the council being contested
- whether the candidate, or a close associate of the candidate, is engaged in a contractual process² with the council being contested
- whether the candidate, or a close associate of the candidate, has made any applications or representations about particular applications (which are yet to be decided) to the council being contested.

For the purposes of candidate nominations, a person is a close associate of a candidate if the person is one of the following:

- a spouse of the candidate
- a partner in a partnership with the candidate
- an entity for which the candidate is an executive officer or board member.

² See definition of contractual process, schedule 1, LGEA .

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

PUBLICATION OF INFORMATION

Generally, all information provided in a nomination form will be published on the ECQ's website until the conclusion of the election. Some information will be held by the ECQ as part of the nomination process but will not be disclosed to the public, including:

- residential address of a candidate who is a silent elector
- residential address of close associates named on a candidate's nomination form
- residential address of a person who is an elector nominating a candidate
- details of the dedicated campaign bank account, including BSB and account number, name of account and financial institution, of the candidate or group of candidates.

ENDORSEMENT

Candidates who are not endorsed by a registered political party must be nominated by:

- at least 6 electors (i.e., persons enrolled on the electoral roll) who live within the local government area (for undivided councils), or
- at least 6 electors who live within the division or ward of the local government area being contested (for divided councils).

This includes candidates who are contesting the election as a member of a group of candidates. The credentials of electors nominating a candidate are checked against the electoral roll. The ECQ recommends that candidates submit nominations from more than 6 electors in case one or more of their nominators are not eligible electors.

A candidate endorsed by a registered political party must be nominated by the party's registered officer. Party-endorsed candidates are required to sign a Consent and Declaration Form to consent to their nomination. The Consent and Declaration Form can be obtained from the registered officer of the political party or from the ECQ and should be provided to the party's registered officer by each candidate in advance of nomination.

FORMING A GROUP OF CANDIDATES

Two or more candidates who wish to form a group to collectively campaign must register as a group with the ECQ before engaging in any group campaign activities. A group may apply to register at any time up to the day before election day, but if a group applies for registration before the close of nominations, the group's name will appear next to the candidates' names on the ballot paper.

Applications for registration must include the details of the group's dedicated campaign bank account, appoint an agent for the group and contain signatures from all proposed group members. For more details, please see Fact sheet 22 – Group registration process.

NOMINATION DEPOSIT

A deposit of $250 must be lodged with the Returning Officer by each candidate at the time of nomination. Deposits can be paid by cash, electronic funds transfer (EFT), bank cheque or BPoint through the ECQ's Self Service Portal.

Nomination deposits are refunded to candidates who are successfully elected or who receive more than 4% of the total number of formal votes.

LATE OR INCOMPLETE NOMINATIONS

Candidate nominations cannot be accepted until all requirements have been met. It is strongly recommended that candidates plan to complete these steps well in advance of nominating to ensure that the deadline for close of nominations can be met.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Nominations must be submitted before the close of the nomination period. Late or incomplete nominations cannot be accepted.

After nominating

Once the nomination process has been completed, the Returning Officer for the local government area will provide candidates with certification of their nomination and will publish details of the ballot draw to be held.

For political party-endorsed candidates, registered officers will be provided with the candidate nomination certificates.

A notice of nominations will be published on the ECQ's website.

Provision of electoral roll data to candidates

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

The Electoral Commission of Queensland (ECQ) can release information about electors to specific electoral participants before and after an election.

Who can access electoral roll information?

Candidates are entitled to receive a copy of the voters roll for the local government area or the division/ward where they are running for election. This is released to them after the close of candidate nominations.

After an election, a councillor can request elector information for that election about the local government area or division/ward for which they were elected. A councillor in a divided council can only request information for their division/ward.

Registered political parties can request electoral data about each local government area after the election.

What information is released?

Before the election, candidates receive electoral roll information containing the names and addresses of electors in their local government area or division/ward. The addresses of silent electors are not released.

After the election, elected councillors and registered political parties may request, in relation to the election:

- an elector's name and address as at the close of roll for the election
- information about whether the elector voted in person, by post, or in another way
- if the elector voted in person at a polling booth within the local government area, where they are enrolled or the location of the polling booth where they voted.

Information about silent electors is not released.

How can the electoral roll information be used?

For information released before an election, the recipient must not use, disclose, or allow another person to access the information unless it is for:

- any purpose related to an election
- the purposes of checking the accuracy of the information
- the performance of a councillor's functions in relation to electors enrolled on the electoral roll
- the performance of their duties by an official or employee of a political party in relation to the electors enrolled on the voters roll.

Under section 21(3) of the LGEA, misuse of voters roll information carries a maximum penalty of 20 penalty units (valued at $3,338 as at 1 July 2025) or 6 months imprisonment.

How-to-vote cards

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

How-to-vote cards allow election participants to communicate how they would like their supporters to vote and direct their preferences in a local government election or by-election. This fact sheet will explain the steps that candidates, groups of candidates or registered political parties intending to distribute how-to-vote cards must follow before distributing the cards to voters during an election period. How-to-vote cards must:

This process helps to ensure how-to-vote cards comply with the requirements of the LGEA and promotes transparency about how a candidate or registered political party is asking voters to direct their preferences.

The election period begins on the day the notice of election is published and ends when the polls close on election day. The ECQ does not regulate authorisation or distribution of how-to-vote cards outside of the election period.

What is a how-to-vote card?

How-to-vote cards have a specific definition under Schedule 2 of the LGEA for local government elections and by-elections.

A how-to-vote card is a card, handbill or pamphlet that:

- For an election where optional-preferential voting applies (i.e. for a single member divided council, or when voting for mayor in all councils):
 - contains a representation or intended representation of a ballot paper, or part of a ballot paper, or
 - lists the names of any or all candidates with numbers indicating an order of voting preference against the names of any or all of the candidates, or
 - directs or encourages the casting of preference votes, other than a first preference vote.
- For an election where first-past-the-post voting applies (i.e. for an undivided council or multi-member divided council):
 - contains a representation or intended representation of a ballot paper, or part of a ballot paper, or
 - directs or encourages the casting of a vote for the number of candidates equal to the number of candidates to be elected.

Only cards that meet this definition are required to be submitted to the ECQ for acceptance prior to their distribution. Example images of how-to-vote cards are provided at the end of this fact sheet.

Cards or other materials that do not meet the above definition of a how-to-vote card are considered election materials, and not how-to-vote cards for election purposes. They do not need to be accepted by the ECQ prior to distribution but must still carry proper authorisation. Please refer to Fact sheet 3 – Authorisation of election materials for more information.

‘Vote 1’ materials

A card, handbill or pamphlet containing a phrase like ‘Vote 1 [candidate’s name]’ is a how-to-vote card in an election or by-election using optional-preferential voting. It is listing the name of any (in this case, one) candidate with a number indicating voting preference.

A card, handbill or pamphlet containing a phrase like ‘Vote 1 [Candidate’s name]’ is a how-to-vote card in a by-election using first-past-the-post voting where there is only one candidate being elected. The card is directing the casting of a vote equal to the number of candidates to be elected – in this case, one candidate.

Any such material must be authorised as a how-to-vote card and submitted to the ECQ for approval prior to its distribution.

‘Vote 1’ materials for candidates are considered how-to-vote cards for:

- elections or by-elections using optional-preferential voting
- by-elections using first-past-the-post voting (where there is only 1 vacancy).

An example of a card that meets the definition of a how-to-vote card by containing a phrase like ‘Vote 1 [candidate’s name]’ is on page 11 of this fact sheet.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

What is the distribution of a how-to-vote card for election purposes?

The distribution of how-to-vote cards is also defined by the LGEA. A person distributes a how-to-vote card if they make the card available to other persons to take away; they do not distribute a how-to-vote card simply by displaying it publicly.

First-past-the-post elections

Voting in Queensland local government elections uses either an optional preferential voting or a first-past-the-post voting system. For more information about either system and where they apply, refer to the ECQ's voting systems webpage.

Anyone distributing a how-to-vote card for a first-past-the-post election must ensure their card directs voters to vote for the number of candidates to be elected, so as not to encourage the casting of an informal vote. This may be through the numbering of the correct number of boxes, or by other clear instruction on the card regarding the number of preference votes required for casting a formal vote.

The ECQ monitors submitted how-to-vote cards for content which may mislead electors as part of our compliance approach.

EXAMPLES

Example A

Candidate A is contesting in an undivided council as a candidate – this council type has first-past-the-post voting and will be electing 4 councillors from a field of 7 nominated candidates. Candidate A intends to print and distribute how-to-vote cards so voters understand and cast votes that Candidate A prefers.

Candidate A's how-to-vote card should therefore direct voters to vote for 4 candidates, because this is the only way that voters in this undivided council can cast a formal vote.

Example B

Candidate B is contesting in a multi-member divided council. Candidate B's division has first-past-the-post voting and will be electing 7 councillors from a field of 12 nominated candidates. Candidate B has not made arrangements with any other candidates and wants voters to choose their own preferences. Candidate B decides to print and distribute a how-to-vote card to this effect.

Candidate B's how-to-vote card should indicate a number 1 next to their name but must also include clear instructions to voters to make an additional 6 votes so they are not being directed to cast an informal vote by only marking a 1 in a single box.

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

How must a how-to-vote card be authorised?

If an election participant wants to distribute a how-to-vote card during an election period, section 178 of the LGEA requires an authorisation to appear at the end of each side of the card that contains print. It must state the name and address of the person who authorised the card, and –

If the card is authorised for:	The authorisation must state:	For example:
A registered political party or their endorsed candidate	The party's full name or their registered abbreviation, as they appear on the ECQ's register of political parties	Authorised P. Smith, 123 Main Street Brisbane for [name of political party]
A group of candidates or a candidate who is a member of a group	The group's name	Authorised M. Taylor, 99 King Street Port Douglas for [name of group]
Any candidates not included in the above	The candidate's name, and the word candidate	Authorised R. Jones, 88 Queen Street Brisbane for R. Jones (candidate)

If the card is authorised for a member of a group of candidates, or for the group itself, the authorising person must be a member of the group.

Section 178 also sets out the authorisation's required font sizes for different how-to-vote cards sizes. The authorisation must appear in prominent and legible characters in print at least:

- 10 point if the card is A6 or smaller
- 14 point if the card is larger than A6 up to A3 size (includes DL, A5 and A4)
- 20 point if the card is larger than A3.

A double-sided how-to-vote card must have an authorisation on each side containing text.

How and when to submit a how-to-vote card to the ECQ

The person who authorised the how-to-vote card must first submit copies of their cards to the ECQ for acceptance prior to their distribution to voters. This submission must include:

- A completed Form LG 53 – Lodgement of how-to-vote cards which includes a statutory declaration relating to any financial contribution received in relation to the production of the how-to-vote card, and
- If lodgement is via a hard copy: the required number of hard copies is 12 more than the number of polling booths within the local government area in which the cards are to be distributed, with
- A high-quality electronic copy of each how-to-vote card (as this will be published to the ECQ's website once accepted). PDF is preferred, which can be provided by email. The electronic proof supplied by a commercial printer will usually meet this requirement.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Note: how-to-vote cards in languages other than English must be submitted with a written translation.

How-to-vote cards can be lodged either with the Returning Officer in a candidate's or group of candidates' local government area, or directly with the ECQ's head office in Brisbane if preferred. Form LG 53 provides the necessary ECQ contact information if required. Once lodged with the ECQ, each how-to-vote card will undergo a multi-step scrutiny process to assess it for compliance under the LGEA.

How-to-vote cards must be lodged with the ECQ at least 7 business days before the day the how-to-vote card is to be distributed. The ECQ then has up to 5 business days to accept or reject the card and inform the card's authoriser of the decision in writing (including reasons for rejection).

If a rejection is issued, the card can be revised and resubmitted at least 2 business days before the day the how-to-vote card is to be distributed. The ECQ then has 2 business days to accept or reject the revised card and inform the card's authoriser of the decision in writing (including reasons for rejection).

Election participants should be mindful of these timeframes if large print runs are being planned. The ECQ recommends that print runs be completed after the ECQ accepts a how-to-vote card, confirming that no amendments are required. Any printing costs incurred before the ECQ accepts a how-to-vote card will be at the candidate's risk.

Accepted cards will be made available by the ECQ for public inspection prior to election day on the ECQ website.

Only how-to-vote cards that are authorised for candidates, groups of candidates and political parties are required to be lodged. How-to-vote cards produced by third parties do not require acceptance by the ECQ but they must still carry a compliant authorisation, and not be misleading about the ways of voting.

Compliance

Under the LGEA, election staff at a polling place may require a person to produce a how-to-vote card for inspection and may confiscate cards which have not been accepted by the ECQ.

Publishing or distributing any material during an election period that is likely to mislead an elector about the ways of voting is an offence. Breaking this rule carries penalties for non-compliance. Please see Fact sheet 7 – Offences relating to electoral advertising for more information.

Examples of how-to-vote cards

The final pages of this fact sheet contain examples of cards that might be accepted or rejected by the ECQ, focusing on key compliance issues.

It is important to remember that optional preferential voting and first-past-the-post voting have different requirements for voters to cast a formal vote – the type of election therefore affects what will be acceptable and not misleading to voters.

A list of which voting system is used in each local government area is available on the ECQ's website. All mayoral elections use optional preferential voting.

For more information about these systems, what constitutes a formal or informal vote for either system, or where they apply, please refer to the ECQ's voting systems webpage.

The following how-to-vote cards are generic examples only to illustrate key compliance issues.

Election summary returns

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

COMPLIANCE WARNING

The ECQ issued nearly 100 fines to candidates for failing to lodge an election summary return for the 2020 local government elections.

An elected candidate who does not lodge an election summary return by the due date will be immediately removed from office under section 172 of the Local Government Act 2009.

What is an election summary return?

Election summary returns are lodged after election day. They disclose all activity during the disclosure period: all electoral expenditure incurred and all gifts and loans received, if any.

These returns must be given within 15 weeks of election day.

Why must I submit an election summary return?

Disclosure of gifts and money spent during the election period provides transparency to and ensures the integrity of the election process. This is required by the LGEA.

In addition to real-time reporting of gifts, loans, and electoral expenditure, election summary returns are required following the election to provide an overview of all financial activity for the election.

Who needs to give an election summary return?

All election participants must lodge an election summary return. This return must be given even if a participant incurred no electoral expenditure or received no gifts or loans. This includes candidates, groups of candidates, associated entities, registered political parties and third parties.

If an election participant has designated an agent, the agent is responsible for completing and submitting the election summary return.

Election summary returns must be given to the ECQ within 15 weeks after election day.

Do electoral expenditure caps apply to associated entities?

When an associated entity spends money during a capped expenditure period, the electoral expenditure incurred counts towards the expenditure cap of the registered political party, group of candidates, or candidate with which it is associated.

Both the associated entity and the party, group or candidate must ensure they do not collectively exceed the expenditure cap. Significant penalties apply for failure to comply with these laws.

For more information on expenditure caps, please refer to the relevant fact sheet:

Record keeping requirements

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

All election participants are responsible for keeping full and accurate records relevant to their election funding and disclosure requirements.

Good record keeping practices promote accountability and transparency and increase public confidence in election campaigning in local government. Records help to protect election participants should the integrity of their financial reporting be reviewed during or after an election campaign.

Failure to keep relevant election records is unlawful and may result in enforcement action.

What records need to be kept?

Election participants (and their associated entities) must keep complete and accurate records about:

- gifts (donations) made or received
- loans made or received
- electoral expenditure incurred
- other campaign expenses
- dedicated campaign bank accounts
- disclosure returns
- any other matters required to be stated in a disclosure form.

In general terms, the following items should be kept:

- bank statements
- invoices
- receipt books
- deposit books
- cheque books
- general ledgers
- notices
- copies of advertisements or election material.

Records must include any information necessary to demonstrate compliance with the election funding and disclosure obligations under legislation.

QUEENSLAND

If monies have been spent during the election to print, publish or broadcast an advertisement or other election material, the record for this expenditure must include three parts:

- a copy of the advertisement or other material
- the audience
- the name of the election location (whether an entire local government area or a specific ward or division).

An agent of an election participant has a specific responsibility to keep a record of their compliance with agent obligations. Additional information about an agent's obligations can be found in Fact sheet 38 – Funding and disclosure overview for agents.

How do records need to be kept?

All records must be in English, be accurate and be held in a way that allows the ECQ to examine them conveniently and properly for audit or compliance purposes.

Records may be kept in paper or electronic form. It is strongly recommended that paper records are also saved electronically. Copies of all electronic records should be regularly backed up in a separate location.

How long should records be kept?

Records must be kept and made available to the ECQ for inspection for a period of at least 5 years after the election.

All election participants are subject to ECQ compliance reviews and may be asked to provide evidence to satisfy the ECQ that disclosure requirements have been properly met.

Tips for good record keeping

Good record keeping supports full and accurate disclosure. It is strongly recommended that election participants:

- record receipt of gifts and loans as soon as practical so they are not overlooked or forgotten
- save any paper records electronically to ensure they are not destroyed
- keep comprehensive records in an orderly format for easy and quick retrieval
- regularly back-up electronic records
- ensure their records are up-to-date.

NOTICE

The Local Government Electoral Regulation 2023 has added new requirements for records kept by election participants during local government elections and by-elections.

Some of these new requirements are detailed on the next pages. This fact sheet does not replace the Regulation, and all participants should consider seeking legal advice if they have any questions.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Definition of gifts and loans

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to candidates, groups of candidates, registered political parties, associated entities, third parties and donors which make or receive gifts or loans.

Generally, any gifts or loans made to or by these election participants must be disclosed.

It is important for election participants (including donors) to familiarise themselves with the definitions of gifts and loans to ensure they comply with disclosure laws.

What is a gift?

A gift is a transfer of money, property or a service given without receiving something of equal or adequate value in return.

A non-monetary gift (or gift-in-kind) is a gift of any goods or services other than money.

A gift includes:

- money given to an election participant
- services provided at no or below cost
- electoral expenditure gifted to an election participant
- uncharged interest, or an amount forgiven, on a loan (refer below for further information)
- the part of a fundraising contribution that exceeds $200.

A gift does not include:

- property transferred under a will
- a fundraising contribution of $200 or less, or the first $200 of a larger fundraising contribution
- membership fees paid to a registered political party
- a compulsory levy imposed on councillors under their registered political party's constitution
- an amount transferred from an individual's own funds (e.g., from a personal bank account) to the individual's own dedicated campaign bank account
- an amount contributed from an account an individual holds jointly with their spouse (this does not include amounts given to the spouse by a prohibited donor) to the individual's own dedicated campaign bank account
- volunteer labour, or incidental or ancillary use of a volunteer's vehicle or equipment
- gifts made in a private capacity for an individual's personal use unless the gift is used for an electoral purpose.

See Fact sheet 12 for the definition of gifted electoral expenditure.

Electoral Commission
QUEENSLAND

What is a fundraising contribution?

A fundraising contribution is the amount paid as an entry fee or other payment entitling someone to participate in or benefit from a fundraising venture or function.

An example of a fundraising contribution includes a raffle ticket or an amount paid for an item at a fundraising auction.

Fundraising contributions that are $200 or less are not considered gifts. For fundraising contributions over $200, only the amount that exceeds $200 is a gift and must be disclosed. The $200 threshold applies on a per-person, per-event basis.

EXAMPLE

A donor pays $1,500 for 3 tickets to attend a fundraising dinner held by a registered political party. As this amount is a fundraising contribution, the first $200 is not a gift and does not require disclosure. The remaining $1,300 is a gift and must be disclosed by both the donor and the party.

Volunteer labour

Volunteer labour is generally not considered a gift. However, if a person provides a service that they normally provide on a commercial basis at a reduced or no cost, that would be considered a gift.

EXAMPLE

A campaign volunteer, who also operates a printing business, prints 100 flyers and gives them to a candidate at no cost. The flyers would be considered a gift.

Gifts given in a private capacity

Gifts made in a private capacity for an individual's personal use are not gifts for electoral purposes. However, should any part of the gift be used for an electoral purpose, that part will be considered a gift.

Self-funding and funds from a joint account

A candidate may pay an amount from their personal funds into their own dedicated campaign bank account. This is considered self-funding (i.e., not a gift) and does not require disclosure.

Amounts transferred from a joint bank account held by an individual and their spouse (which includes a de facto or civil partner) into the individual's dedicated campaign bank account are not considered to be gifts and do not require disclosure.

Candidates who are part of a group of candidates may also transfer amounts from their personal bank accounts (or bank accounts held jointly with their spouse) into the group's dedicated campaign bank account, without needing to disclose the amounts.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Note that an amount received from a spouse other than from a joint bank account will be considered a gift and is subject to usual disclosure laws.

Self-funding and joint funds cannot be used to conceal gifts that are otherwise not permitted (e.g. gifts from property developers).

Significant penalties apply for circumventing electoral laws.

What is a loan?

A loan is any of the following provided by a person or entity, other than a financial institution or by use of a credit card:

- an advance of money
- provision of credit or another form of financial accommodation
- payment of an amount for, on behalf of, or at the request of, an entity, if there is an express or implied obligation to repay the amount
- another transaction that is in effect a loan of money.

If a loan's terms do not include an interest rate of at least the Reserve Bank of Australia's cash rate plus 3%, the difference would be considered a gift-in-kind and may require disclosure.

A loan does not include an amount transferred by an individual into their own dedicated campaign bank account. This would be considered self-funding (see above).

Anonymous gifts

It is unlawful for a candidate or group of candidates to receive anonymous gifts or loans totalling $500 or more. This includes gifts or loans where the name, address or other relevant details of the donor are not known to the candidate or group.

If an anonymous gift or loan is received, an amount equal to the amount or value of the gift or loan is payable to the State.

Prohibited donors

Property developers and industry organisations representing property developers are prohibited from making a gift or loan to a candidate, group of candidates or third party in relation to a local government election. Political parties may only accept gifts and loans from prohibited donors if they are accompanied by a restricted donation statement.

Significant penalties apply for anyone who makes or receives prohibited donations. Penalties could include fines, prosecution and/or the recovery of those amounts as a debt to the State.

Please see Fact sheet 42 – Definition of prohibited donors, property developers and close associates and Fact sheet 43 – Ban on political donations from prohibited donors for details.

This fact sheet relates to candidates, groups of candidates, political parties, associated entities, third parties and donors who participate in local government elections and by-elections.

It is illegal to make or accept a political donation from a prohibited donor in relation to a local government election. Individuals or entities who are not sure if they are prohibited donors may apply to the ECQ for a determination.

Who is a prohibited donor?

A prohibited donor includes:

- a property developer
- a close associate of a property developer
- an industry representative organisation with property developers as the majority of its members.

What is a property developer?

A property developer is a corporation engaged in a business that regularly makes relevant planning applications concerning the development of residential or commercial land with the ultimate purpose of selling or leasing the land for profit.

Who is a close associate?

A close associate of a property developer includes:

- a related body corporate of the property developer
- a director or other officer of the property developer
- a person with more than 20% of the voting power of the property developer or a related body corporate
- a spouse, de factor or civil partner of any of the above persons
- if the property developer is a trustee, manager or responsible entity in relation to a unit trust – a person who holds more than 20% of the units in the trust
- if the property developer is a trustee, manager, or responsible entity in relation to a discretionary trust – a beneficiary of the trust
- if the property developer or related body corporate is one entity in a stapled security – the other entity in the stapled security.

What is a relevant planning application?

A relevant planning application includes an application or request:

- for a development approval under the Planning Act 2016 or the repealed Sustainable Planning Act 2009
- about the making or amendment of a planning instrument or designation under the Planning Act 2016 or the repealed Sustainable Planning Act 2009
- for a State Development Area approval under the State Development and Public Works Organisation Act 1971
- under the State Development and Public Works Organisation Act 1971 about the following —
 - the declaration or variation of a coordinated project, prescribed development, prescribed project or State development area
 - the imposition of, or change to, conditions on a coordinated project
 - the preparation or variation of a development scheme
- for a Priority Development Area development approval under the Economic Development Act 2012
- under the Economic Development Act 2012 or the Minister for Economic Development Queensland about—
 - a priority development area or provisional priority development area
 - a development scheme, interim land use plan or PDA-associated development for a priority development area
 - a provisional land use plan or PDA-associated development for a provisional priority development area.

A relevant planning application does not include:

- a development application made in another state or territory other than Queensland
- an application or request that predominantly concerns the corporation's own place of business or premises (unless the business involves selling or leasing a substantial part of the premises).

What is meant by 'regular'?

Regular means periodic, recurring, continuous or with precedent. No specific quantity of planning applications or timeframe in which they are made can be attributed to the definition.

Planning applications differ in size and complexity. A project may require a single planning application or several separate applications to cover various aspects of a development (e.g. reconfiguring a lot, material change of use, operational works).

Due to the nature of development projects, some property developers may submit planning applications numerous times a year. Others engaged in large-scale projects may only submit applications every few years. Both scenarios may be considered regular when assessing if an individual or entity is a property developer.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

EXAMPLE

A corporation intends to develop a parcel of land. The development includes private residential apartments, commercial retail premises and other aspects.

The corporation was established solely for the purpose of developing this land. It is not clear whether the corporation will need to lodge a single application or several to see the project completed.

Prior to lodging a development application with the local council, the corporation engages a number of consultants, architects, etc. for specialist reports to support their development application. These include noise mitigation reports, traffic management reports, drainage reports, etc.

The ECQ considers that the corporation is a property developer as they have begun engaging in a business that requires the lodgement of development applications on a regular basis.

Who is not a prohibited donor?

An individual or entity is not a prohibited donor if:

- they do not make relevant planning applications on their own behalf or as part of their own business activities and

- they are not a close associate of an entity that does.

This may include:

- professional service providers engaged by property developers (e.g. engineers, architects, town planners, etc.)
- an individual or entity that submits relevant planning applications as a service on behalf of another individual or entity
- a relative (other than a spouse, de facto or civil partner) or employee of a property developer.

The ECQ can also make determinations that a person or entity is not a prohibited donor through a formal application process. For more information, please see Fact sheet 44 – Applications for a prohibited donor determination.

What is the ban on political donations from prohibited donors?

Under the LGEA, it is unlawful to give or receive a political donation from a prohibited donor. Please refer to Fact sheet 43 – Ban on political donations from prohibited donors for details.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Definition of electoral expenditure

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to candidates, groups of candidates, registered political parties, associated entities and third parties participating in local elections and by-elections.

The term 'electoral expenditure' has a specific meaning for local elections and by-elections. Electoral participants must disclose all electoral expenditure and ensure they do not exceed their caps on electoral expenditure.

Not all campaign expenses are electoral expenditure. It is important to consider whether a particular campaign expense is electoral expenditure or not.

See Fact sheets 18 and 34 for information about disclosure of electoral expenditure.

See Fact sheets 19, 24, 29 and 36 for information about electoral expenditure caps.

What is electoral expenditure?

Under section 109A of the LGEA, electoral expenditure is expenditure incurred for a campaign purpose and includes GST. It includes:

- costs of designing, producing, printing, broadcasting, or publishing any kind of material for an election including (but not limited to):
 - advertisements broadcast at a cinema, on radio or television or on the internet,
 - direct marketing through the post office or email
 - flyers, billboards, brochures, signs, or how-to-vote cards
- distribution costs for election material such as the cost of postage, couriers, or sending SMS messages
- costs of opinion polling or research
- fees for contracted services related to an activity mentioned above (e.g., payments for experts or consultants, the provision of data, etc.).

Expenditure is incurred for a campaign purpose if it:

- promotes or opposes a political party or group of candidates for an election
- promotes or opposes the election of a candidate
- otherwise influences voting at an election.

For example, expenditure is incurred for one of the above purposes if, in relation to an election, the material produced:

- expressly promotes or opposes:
 - political parties, groups of candidates, or candidates who advocate, or do not advocate, a particular policy or issue
 - political parties, groups of candidates, or candidates who have, or do not have, a specific position on a policy or an issue
 - candidates who express a particular opinion

Commission

- expressly or implicitly comments on a political party, a candidate, or a group of candidates participating in the election
 - comments on an election in relation to a local government's area or a division of a local government's area
 - expresses a particular position on a policy, issue or opinion if the position is publicly associated with a political party, group of candidates or candidate. This applies even if the party, group or candidate is not mentioned.

Expressly urging electors to vote for or against a candidate, group or party is not the sole defining feature of electoral expenditure. Election material using images, branding, slogans or identifying a person as a candidate can serve a campaign purpose and therefore represent electoral expenditure.

The purpose of the election material is the primary concern: does the material promote a candidate, group of candidates or registered political party in relation to a local government election? If the answer is yes, the election material is electoral expenditure.

Incidental expenses for minor consumables such as screws/nails, zip ties, washers, etc. are not considered electoral expenditure. Larger items, such as stakes (for displaying signs on roads, etc.) are considered electoral expenditure and must be disclosed under the election participant's disclosure requirements.

What is not electoral expenditure?

Electoral expenditure does not include:

- employing staff for a campaign purpose (excluding consultants depending upon their role)
- campaign materials for the election of members of Parliament (in Queensland or any other jurisdiction) or the election of councillors of a local government in another State
- factual advertising that relates mainly to the administration of a registered political party—for organisational purposes or to select candidates for nomination
- expenses for which a sitting councillor receives (or is entitled to receive) an allowance or entitlement.

When a councillor receives (or is entitled to receive) an allowance or entitlement to produce councillor newsletters, the newsletter produced will not be electoral expenditure if it complies with the council's newsletter requirements.

In any other instance, if the newsletter is for a campaign purpose, it may be electoral expenditure.

How is electoral expenditure determined?

Sometimes the ECQ may need to determine if a particular piece of election material is the product of electoral expenditure. In addition to the criteria laid out above, the following factors may be considered in these situations:

- Organiser's intent when producing the materials
- Words and images used
- Timing and placement of the material
- Colours, slogans, logos, etc. used in the material

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

- Whether the material was required to be authorised under the LGEA
- Any external information which may provide additional context (such as correspondence or contracts between the supplier of the goods and the electoral participant)
- Any other relevant factors

Electoral expenditure incurred by third parties

Monies spent by a third party are electoral expenditure if the dominant purpose for that spending is a campaign purpose.

Third party expenditure is not considered electoral expenditure if the dominant purpose of the expenditure is another purpose, such as educating or raising awareness about a public policy issue. This is true even if the expenditure also (and incidentally) achieves a campaign purpose.

Third parties that spend, or are planning to spend, more than $6,000 in electoral expenditure have additional obligations and must register with the ECQ.

See Fact sheet 31 for more information about third parties and electoral expenditure.

When is electoral expenditure incurred?

Electoral expenditure is incurred when the relevant goods are first used for a campaign purpose during a capped expenditure period for an election.

The date the expenditure is invoiced or paid does not matter.

Under section 109E, electoral expenditure is incurred when the relevant goods or services are supplied or provided. It does not matter when the expenditure is invoiced or paid.

For example:

- Expenditure on advertising is incurred when the advertisement is broadcast or published.
- Expenditure on production and distribution of election material, such as flyers, is incurred when the material is distributed.

If electoral expenditure is used to obtain goods for the dominant purpose of being used for a campaign purpose in one or more elections, the electoral expenditure is taken to have been incurred when the goods are first used for a campaign purpose during a capped expenditure period.

If election material was first used for a campaign purpose during a capped expenditure period (e.g. during the 2024 local government elections or later), re-using the goods during a later election's capped expenditure period will not incur electoral expenditure a second time.

 EXAMPLES*Example A

A potential candidate orders and pays for the design and production of 50 corflutes in May 2023. The corflutes are supplied in July 2023, and the candidate's team puts them up around the council division starting on 10 September 2023. The electoral expenditure is incurred on 10 September 2023.

Example B

In April 2023, a potential candidate commissions the design of flyers to hand out while going door-to-door. The flyers are delivered and paid for in September 2023, but by then, the potential candidate has decided not to contest the election and destroys the flyers. No electoral expenditure has been incurred.

Example C

Jim has campaigned in several local government elections. He is planning to re-use the signs and corflutes made in 2024 for a by-election in 2025.

Jim disclosed the electoral expenditure when it was incurred on 14 February 2024. When he re-uses the signs and corflutes in the by-election, no electoral expenditure has been incurred.

Example D

In early 2023, Councillor Jane approves the design of new corflutes and orders 25 of them for her upcoming campaign. The corflutes are delivered and paid for in November 2023.

On 15 February 2024, Councillor Jane and her volunteers put up 12 corflutes around her local government division. The electoral expenditure is incurred on 15 February 2024 when the corflutes are first used for a campaign purpose during the capped expenditure period for the election.

However, because only 12 corflutes were used for a campaign purpose, the amount of electoral expenditure incurred in February 2024 is the value of 12 corflutes.

Councillor Jane decides to use all 25 corflutes during her campaign for the 2028 local government elections. When she and her volunteers put up all 25 corflutes in February 2028, electoral expenditure will be incurred for only the 13 corflutes that were not used during a previous capped expenditure period.

Incurring electoral expenditure on behalf of another participant

If an election participant (the first participant) incurs electoral expenditure that benefits a second election participant (the recipient), the electoral expenditure is assigned to the first participant.

However, the recipient incurs the electoral expenditure if both the following are satisfied:

- The expenditure is made with the recipient's authority or consent, or if the material produced by the expenditure is accepted by the recipient; and
- The first participant invoices the recipient for payment of the expenditure.

'Gifted' electoral expenditure

If goods or services produced by electoral expenditure are 'gifted' to an election participant, the expenditure is considered to have been incurred by the recipient of the gift.

Electoral expenditure is 'gifted' to an election participant if these 3 conditions are met:

- The expenditure benefits the election participant
- The expenditure is incurred with the authority or consent of the recipient, or the election material produced is accepted by the recipient
- The person who originally incurred the expenditure does not receive payment or does not invoice the participant for the amount within 7 days of the events outlined above.

If the electoral expenditure discussed above was incurred through an arrangement with 2 or more election participants, the value of the expenditure is divided by the number of participants to determine the amount of gifted electoral expenditure per participant.

No matter when the expenditure is incurred, the 'gift' of electoral expenditure applies at the completion of the 3 outlined points above.

'Gifted' electoral expenditure must be disclosed by the recipient both as a gift and as electoral expenditure. The donor of the gift is also required to disclose the gift in real-time and in an election summary return.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

 EXAMPLE*Example

In October 2023, Candidate Hal has a professional photographer friend who offers to take some photos of him for use in promotional campaign material. The photographer estimates the value of these shots to be $600 and does not invoice Candidate Hal for the cost.

Candidate Hal must disclose this gifted electoral expenditure as both a gift and electoral expenditure. Because the value of the gift is more than $500, Candidate Hal must disclose the gift within 7 business days of accepting the photographs. Once the photos are used for a campaign purpose, the electoral expenditure is incurred and must be disclosed within 7 business days.

The photographer also needs to disclose their gift to Candidate Hal both in real-time and in an election summary return.

Electoral expenditure relating to a local government area

If money is spent by a registered political party or a registered third party for advertising or producing other election material that is solely directed at electors in a single local government area, the electoral expenditure is incurred by the registered political party or third party solely in that area.

However, if the advertising or other election material is communicated to electors in multiple local government areas, the electoral expenditure is incurred by the registered political party or third party in each of the local government areas.

If the advertising is communicated to electors in multiple local government areas and the registered political party has only endorsed candidates in one of those local government areas, then the expenditure is incurred by the registered political party only in that local government area.

Record keeping

All election participants must keep records for 5 years. This is required to demonstrate compliance in relation to all electoral expenditure, disclosure, and dedicated campaign bank account requirements. Refer to Fact Sheet 8 for more information about record keeping requirements.

Compliance

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA, which includes penalties for election participants who breach their disclosure obligations.

The compliance framework is available on the ECQ's website.

Applications for a prohibited donor determination

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

On 19 March 2026, Queensland's electoral laws were amended to allow property developers and their close associates to make political donations for state election purposes. However, the ban on political donations from prohibited donors still applies for local government elections.

This fact sheet relates to any person or entity who is considering applying to the ECQ for a formal determination that they (or another person or entity) are not a prohibited donor.

Please refer to Fact sheet 42 – Definition of prohibited donors, property developers and close associates and Fact sheet 43 – Ban on political donations from prohibited donors for more information.

Why should I apply for a determination?

A determination is a decision by the Electoral Commissioner or their delegate, that a person or an entity is not a prohibited donor.

In some cases, it may not be immediately clear if an entity meets the definition of a prohibited donor. If there is any doubt, potential donors and recipients should exercise caution and seek a determination (or independent legal advice) before making or accepting a political donation. Individuals can also take the ECQ's prohibited donor self-assessment tool available on our website.

A determination gives confidence to an entity that their donations are lawful during the period the determination has effect. Determinations are in effect for up to 12 months unless revoked earlier.

Applications are only necessary if you are unsure about your status as a prohibited donor (or that of another person or entity) and you want to make or accept a political donation for a local government electoral purpose.

How do I apply for a determination?

Entities can apply for a determination from the ECQ by completing the Application for a determination that person or an entity is not a prohibited donor form. The application must be supported by enough information to enable the Commissioner to assess the application.

There is no fee for making an application.

How is an application for determination processed?

The ECQ will review the application for compliance with electoral laws, completeness and accuracy. This may involve cross-checking information contained in the application with relevant Queensland Government agencies or councils.

Applicants must ensure the information provided in an application is correct. It is an offence for an applicant to give information in an application that they know is false or misleading.

What are the determination outcomes?

The Electoral Commissioner can only determine if a person or entity is not a prohibited donor.

If the Commissioner is satisfied that an applicant is not a prohibited donor, that person or entity will be able to make political donations. The determination will be published on the ECQ's website and will remain in effect for 12 months unless it is revoked earlier.

The ECQ may decide not to make a determination if:

- the application is incomplete or provides insufficient information
- the information provided by the applicant is inaccurate
- the information provided does not satisfy the ECQ that the person or entity is not a prohibited donor.

Unsuccessful applicants will be provided an information notice outlining the reasons the ECQ decided not to make a determination and the available options for review.

Electoral expenditure cap calculations

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet explains how expenditure caps are calculated for election participants in local government elections.

There are limitations (caps) on the amount of electoral expenditure that can be incurred during the capped expenditure period for a local election. For Brisbane City Council, the caps are set by legislation. For all other local government areas, the caps vary on a sliding scale by reference to the number of electors in the local government area. Electoral expenditure caps also vary based on whether the candidate is contesting a mayoral or councillor position.

The calculation and publication of electoral expenditure caps is managed by the ECQ, as set out in Part 6, Division 4 (Caps on electoral expenditure) in the LGEA. The ECQ will publish a notice on its website advising what the expenditure caps are:

- for the 2024 local government elections – expenditure caps were published on 21 July 2023
- for a by-election – at the same time the notice for the election is issued

However, election participants might like to familiarise themselves with the underlying principles of cap calculation to understand how their expenditure cap is reached.

Number of electors

A candidate's expenditure cap is calculated by reference to the number of enrolled electors for an election. For mayoral candidates and councillor candidates in an undivided council, this is the number of people enrolled on the electoral roll for the candidate's council at a particular point in time.

For councillor candidates in a divided council, the number of electors is calculated by:

- taking the total number of electors enrolled in the whole council area
- dividing that number by the number of councillors (excluding mayors) who need to be elected for the council area
- multiplying the result by the number of councillors to be elected for a council's division.

The ECQ will calculate and publish the number of electors at the same time as publishing the expenditure caps.

Individual candidates for mayor

Electoral expenditure caps for individual mayoral candidates (excluding Brisbane City Council) are:

Number of electors	Electoral expenditure cap (E)
30,000 or less	$E = $35,520$
30,001 – 150,000	$E = \text{Number of electors} \times \1.18
150,001 – 200,000	$E = $177,600 + ($0.59 \times (\text{Number of electors} - 150,000))$
More than 200,000	$E = $207,200 + ($0.30 \times (\text{Number of electors} - 200,000))$

All calculated amounts shall be rounded to the nearest $10 (rounding one-half upwards). Endorsed candidates and candidates in a group are also subject to the above calculations, though additional aggregation rules apply. For further details, see Fact Sheet 28 – Expenditure caps for RPPs and endorsed candidates.

Individual candidates for councillor

Electoral expenditure caps for individual councillor candidates (other than mayor) (excluding Brisbane City Council) are:

Number of electors	Electoral expenditure cap (E)
20,000 or less	$E = $17,760$
20,001 – 39,999	$E = \text{Number of electors} \times \0.89
40,000 or more	$E = $35,520$

All calculated amounts shall be rounded to the nearest $10 (rounding one-half upwards). Endorsed candidates and candidates in a group are also subject to the above calculations, though additional aggregation rules apply. For further details, see Fact Sheet 28 – Expenditure caps for RPPs and endorsed candidates.

Individual candidates in Brisbane City Council

Candidates for Brisbane City Council have separate electoral expenditure caps set under the LGEA:

- for mayoral candidates – the expenditure cap is $1,539,210
- for councillor candidates – the expenditure cap is $65,120.

Endorsed candidates are also subject to the above calculations, though additional aggregation rules apply. For further details, see Fact Sheet 28 – Expenditure caps for RPPs and endorsed candidates.

Groups of candidates, registered political parties and third parties

Electoral expenditure caps for groups of candidates, registered political parties and registered third parties are all based on the calculated amounts for individual candidates and will require further calculation by the participants involved.

The electoral expenditure cap for unregistered third parties is $6,000.

For more information, see Related fact sheets below.

Maximum amount

A maximum amount (cap) on electoral expenditure which may be spent on a particular local government area election applies to groups of candidates and to registered political parties and their endorsed candidates.

The maximum amount for electoral expenditure caps is calculated using this formula which references both mayoral and non-mayoral candidate expenditure cap amounts:

M = (A × B) + (C × D), where:

- M is the maximum amount for the election
- A is the amount of an individual mayoral candidate's expenditure cap for the election
- B is either 1 (if the office of mayor is to be filled in the election), or otherwise, 0
- C is the amount of an individual councillor candidates (other than mayor) expenditure cap for the election
- D is the total number of vacant offices of councillors (other than mayor) to be filled in the election.

The electoral expenditure cap that applies to a particular group or registered political party is the sum of each candidate's individual capped amount (depending on whether they are a mayoral or councillor candidate) up to the maximum amount calculated under the formula above. For more information, see:

- Fact sheet 23 – Expenditure caps for groups of candidates
- Fact sheet 28 – Expenditure caps for registered political parties and endorsed candidates

Note

A group or registered political party's expenditure cap for an election is not always the same as the maximum amount for an election.

The electoral expenditure cap may be less than the maximum amount. It will never be more than the maximum amount.

 EXAMPLES*Example A

Group A has 3 councillor candidates and a mayoral candidate in Local Government Area X. In Local Government Area X, there are 5 councillor positions to be elected, and one mayoral candidate position to be elected.

The expenditure cap for a councillor candidate in Local Government Area X is $17,760, while the cap for a mayoral candidate is $35,520.

Applying the formula, the maximum amount for the election is $124,320 as set out below:

$$M = (A \times B) + (C \times D)$$

$$M = ($35,520 \times 1) + ($17,760 \times 5)$$

$$M = $124,320$$

The expenditure cap for Group A is the sum of the capped amounts for each of the group members: $88,800 or $(1 \times $35,520) + (3 \times $17,760)$.

$88,800 is below the maximum amount of $124,320 for the election.

Therefore, the expenditure cap for Group A is $88,800. All 4 candidates in Group A can collectively spend up to $88,800.

Example B

Group B endorses 8 councillor candidates in Local Government Area Y. In Local Government Area Y, there are 5 councillor positions to be elected. The mayoral position (which usually has a cap of $35,520) is not required to be elected in this election.

The expenditure cap for a councillor candidate in Local Government Area Y is $22,250 each.

Applying the formula, the maximum amount for the election is $111,250 as set out below:

$$M = (A \times B) + (C \times D)$$

$$M = ($35,520 \times 0) + ($22,250 \times 5)$$

$$M = $111,250$$

The sum of the capped amounts for each of the group members is $178,000 or $8 \times $22,250$.

However, because there are only 5 councillor positions to be elected in Local Government Area Y, the maximum amount for the group's expenditure cap is $111,250.

Therefore, the 8 candidates in Group B may only collectively spend up to $111,250 for the election.

Cap adjustments for indexation

Electoral expenditure caps are subject to adjustment under the LGEA after each quadrennial election. The purpose of the adjustment is to reflect changes in the consumer price index (CPI), as provided by the Australian Bureau of Statistics. This adjustment is made via the calculation of a relevant factor.

Every four years, 30 days after election day for a quadrennial local government election, the relevant factor is adjusted using this formula:

$A = B \times C/D$, where:

- A is the new adjusted relevant factor
- B is the relevant factor that applied immediately before this adjustment
- C is the CPI for the last quarter that ended before election day for the most recent quadrennial election
- D is the CPI for the last quarter that ended before the election day for the quadrennial election held prior to the most recent quadrennial election.

The adjusted relevant factors for local government electoral expenditure caps for April 2024 to April 2028 can be found on the ECQ website.

For further information

This fact sheet mainly refers to part 6, division 4 (Caps on electoral expenditure) of the LGEA. The LGEA is available in full at legislation.qld.gov.au. Participants in the electoral process should ensure they understand their obligations under the LGEA.

CANDIDATES

Offences and penalties

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

The ECQ is responsible for administering and enforcing the LGEA, which includes enforcing penalties that may apply to local government candidates and sitting councillors who breach their disclosure obligations.

Note that councillors and candidates may also be subject to laws enforced by other government agencies. This fact sheet is intended to provide information only in relation to those laws administered by the ECQ.

What happens if a candidate or councillor commits an offence under the LGEA?

A candidate or councillor who commits an offence under the LGEA may be subject to fines or prosecution in court, depending on the seriousness of the offence.

Further, a sitting councillor will be automatically suspended if they are charged with a disqualifying offence, including an integrity offence or a serious integrity offence, as specified under either the Local Government Act 2009 or the City of Brisbane Act 2010.

Any person including a sitting councillor or candidate will be disqualified from being or becoming a councillor for:

- 4 years after being convicted of an integrity offence

or

- 7 years after being convicted of a serious integrity offence.

A finding of guilt or acceptance of a plea of guilty will lead to disqualification from being a councillor. A conviction does not need to be recorded for disqualification.

What are the integrity offences relating to election activity under the LGEA?

See the next page for a list of offences relating to election activity under the LGEA. This list is not exhaustive and there are other penalties that apply outside of these integrity offences. Election participants should all familiarise themselves with the full content of the relevant legislation and seek independent legal advice if required.

ALL ELECTION PARTICIPANTS

Offences relating to electoral advertising

Unless otherwise stated, all references to legislation are to the Local Government Electoral Act 2011 (LGEA). The information in this fact sheet does not replace legislation. If you are concerned about your obligations, you should seek independent legal advice.

This fact sheet relates to any person who undertakes advertising as part of a Queensland local government election.

Offences relating to electoral advertising

Section 182 of the LGEA prohibits any person from:

- distributing anything that is intended or likely to mislead an elector about the ways of voting during an election period
- distributing anything that purports to be a representation of a ballot paper during an election period, if it's likely to induce an elector to cast an informal vote.

Distribution in this instance means via publication, print, broadcast or online. Any such distribution of misleading election materials or how-to-vote cards is an offence under section 182 of the LGEA, which carries a maximum penalty of 40 penalty units ($6,676 as at 1 July 2025).

Election material that is distributed during an election period must also be properly authorised under section 177 of the LGEA. See Fact sheet 3 – Authorisation of election material for more information.

The distribution of how-to-vote cards is permitted under the LGEA, provided they meet requirements set out in sections 178 and 179 of the LGEA. It is an offence for a person to distribute a how-to-vote card that was not submitted to and accepted by the ECQ.

Distribution of a how-to-vote card that has not been accepted by the ECQ carries a maximum penalty of 20 penalty units ($3,338 as at 1 July 2025). See Fact sheet 5 – How-to-vote cards for more information. Keep in mind that not everything distributed at a polling booth will be a how-to-vote card – it could be ordinary election material which does not require ECQ approval.

The ECQ's Compliance approach

It is common for the ECQ to receive complaints about electoral advertising which discusses another candidate. However, the ECQ has a limited remit to investigate these matters.

Section 182(2) of the LGEA limits the ECQ to only investigating conduct which involves knowingly publishing (in print or online) a false statement of fact about the personal character or conduct of a candidate, for the purpose of affecting the election of the candidate.

Investigations of this nature can take significant time and are unlikely to be resolved before election day. Further information about how matters such as these are prioritised can be found in the ECQ's compliance approach.

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

Electoral Commission
QUEENSLAND

Investigations of this nature will need to establish:

1. The published material contained a false statement of fact (as opposed to an opinion)
2. That the statement of fact was about a candidate's personal character or conduct (as opposed to their professional or public character or conduct)
3. The publisher's intent in publishing the material was to affect the election of that candidate (and not for some other purpose)
4. The person who published the material knew that it contained a false statement of fact.

It is not sufficient to demonstrate that the statement of fact was incorrect – the motives and knowledge of the publisher must be established to substantiate an offence against section 182 of the LGEA.

EXAMPLES

Example A

During a mayoral candidates' debate, two candidates exchange comments about each other's past work performance and resort to name-calling. Another candidate believes the debate was mean-spirited and would like to complain.

Outcome

The ECQ has no remit to investigate this complaint, as it does not constitute the publication of a false statement of fact about the personal character or personal conduct of a candidate.

Example B

A councillor candidate distributes a flyer which has been mocked up to look like a ballot paper and encourages electors to substitute their ballots with this flyer on polling day. An elector is concerned and would like to complain.

Outcome

The elector can contact the ECQ to provide evidence of their concern, and the ECQ may choose to investigate further to determine whether this could induce an elector to cast an informal vote.

Example C

Councillor Candidate A approves the printing of a leaflet which states that Candidate B was convicted of and jailed for fraud in the past. This information is false, and Candidate B has never been convicted of a crime. Candidate A knowingly fabricated this information, and Candidate B has clear evidence of this fabrication from Candidate A's campaign. Candidate B wishes to complain.

Outcome

Candidate B can contact the ECQ to provide their evidence, and the ECQ may choose to investigate further.

More information

If you need more information relating to Funding, Disclosure and Compliance, please contact ECQ on 1300 881 665 or by emailing fad@ecq.qld.gov.au.

EXAMPLES CONTINUED

Example D

A councillor candidate places an advertisement about themselves in their local paper, calling themselves the representative for their local division. An elector believes this is incorrect as the candidate has not yet been elected and wishes to complain.

Outcome

The ECQ has no remit to investigate this complaint, as it does not constitute the publication of a false statement of fact about the personal character or conduct of a candidate.

Who to contact about misconduct

Electoral participants may also be subject to laws enforced by other government agencies. The ECQ does not regulate:

- issues involving the councillor code of conduct, caretaker conventions, or use of council property during the election period
- decisions of councillors made in their capacity as elected officials
- the behaviour or conduct of candidates or their workers when behaviour does not affect the conduct of the election
- content of political advertising (other than ensuring proper authorisation or the matters addressed above)
- the placement of signs on roads, private property, etc.
- complaints about corrupt conduct.
